Haiti Runs to UN

Bosch Asks Aid of OAS

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—Dominican President Juan Bosch bolstered his invasion force along the Haitian border last night but called on the Organization of American States to step into the crisis on the island of Hispaniola.

The Haitians countered by demanding an immediate session of the United Nations Security Council to consider charges of "planned aggression" by the Dominican Republic.

Peace Parley

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)—A bi-racial committee was convened Monday night in an effort to bring about a settlement of month-long racial demonstrations. Burke Marshall, assistant U.S. attorney-general in charge of civil rights, sat in on the meeting.

Negroes Fill Jails

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Hundreds of Negroes shipped school Monday and followed Negro comedian Dick Gregory to jail in a series of marches protesting racial segregation.

An estimated 1,000 were arrested. A jailer, who made the estimate, said 90 per cent were teenagers.

ALMOST 2,400
With the latest mass demonstration, total arrests during the last five days of racial unrest soared to almost 2,400.

Most of the Negroes have chosen to stay in custody, filling up local jails.

The Negroes, holding placards decrying segregation, marched in twos from a church to a waiting line of policemen about a block away, although some groups took other routes.

BOMB CHILDREN
There were at least 18 waves of demonstrators, including some small children.

Shuttled into school buses, their placards taken away, the Negroes waved, laughed and sang freedom songs as they rode off to city jail. Approximately 2,000 Negroes watched and cheered from street corners and sidewalks.

There was no serious disorder.

WON'T STOP
"This is a spontaneous celebration for the victory at the jail," said Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, Birmingham Negro leader.

"We succeeded in filling the jails. Our demonstrations will continue. We are not going to stop."

Americans Defect In Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—The U.S. army announced Monday night a captain and a sergeant were missing. The East German news agency ADN said they were in East Germany and had asked for political asylum.

The army identified the missing officer as Capt. Alfred Svenson, 38, of Herndon, Pa. He crossed into East Germany from West Germany in an army jeep Saturday.

The sergeant in Benjamin Cain, 34, of Frederica, Del. A Berlin supply sergeant, he had been missing since Friday.

Space Ride For All

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—North American television viewers can "take a ride" with an astronaut for the first time on Gordon Cooper's 22-orbital flight expected May 14, scientists said Monday.

A small revolutionary TV rocket camera which Cooper will carry with him—and can hold in one hand—will give millions of viewers a chance to become "armchair astronauts."

'It Happened So Quickly'

"It happened so quickly we were all shaken up," a Ganges man told the Colonist last night in a telephone interview from Edmonton after he had been injured yesterday in a TCA Vanguard on a flight between Victoria and Edmonton.

"There was no time to fasten my seat belt. I hit the ceiling when the plane just dropped down. I was stunned, and another fellow fell on top of me," said C. J. Marcotte, employee of the forestry department.

"They took X-rays of my back in the (Royal Alexandra) hospital and it showed up badly bruised," he said from his Macdonald Hotel room minutes before taking a taxi to the airport to continue his flight to Saskatoon where he will visit his ailing father.

"There was no time to be frightened because it happened so quickly. It seemed everybody was on the floor, including the stewardesses."

"The fellow who died—L. M.

Schmidt of Cudworth, Sask.—was in the compartment behind me. He died in the plane."

Mrs. Laura Knight, 75, of 3700 Blenkinsop, was making her first flight and was interviewed in Edmonton.

"I had my seat belt on," she said. It was a terrific jolt, but, I wasn't hurt."

She said she would continue her flight east but may decide on train or bus for the return trip to Victoria.

S. G. Mooney, TCA district sales manager in Victoria, who was on the same flight and was injured, declined to be interviewed by the Colonist after he had been examined at Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Mrs. Laura Knight, 75, of Victoria, made her first flight Monday and it was rough one. She was aboard Trans-Canada Air Lines plane which ran into severe turbulence over Rockies. One passenger died and 25 injured. Helping her into car at Edmonton is stepson C. J. Nisbet of London, England, who was also aboard turbulent flight.—(CP Photo-fax)

ONE DEAD, 25 INJURED

EDMONTON (CP)—An elderly passenger was killed and 25 persons, including a Victoria man, were injured Monday when a Trans-Canada Air Lines Vanguard hit violent air over the Rocky Mountains on a flight from Vancouver to Edmonton.

A TCA spokesman said all except four of the injured were released from hospital after a medical check.

DELTA UNFASTENED
A passenger said the plane dropped suddenly, perhaps 800 feet. Some passengers had not fastened their seat belts.

The turbo-prop plane, Flight 502 bound for Ottawa, carried 71 persons.

Killed was L. M. Schmidt, 77, an elderly passenger from Cudworth, Sask. He was a retired storekeeper and was returning from his sister's wedding anniversary. Cause of death was not immediately known.

In hospital were: Stanton Mooney, district sales manager from Victoria; Lee Davis of San Jose, Calif.; Mrs. Marion Klemmer of Roseburg, Sask.; and Mrs. Walter Wood of Biggar, Sask. University Hospital said none was in serious condition.

SHAMBLES IN PLANE
A TCA official said the interior of the aircraft was a shambles. Some seats were out of place. Newspapers, blankets and other items were scattered. Reporters were not permitted inside the plane.

The four-engine plane, with a capacity of 108 passengers, suffered "no apparent structural damage," TCA said but it was grounded for a thorough examination.

FOUR AMBULANCES
Four ambulances were at Edmonton's International Airport, 14 miles south of the city, when the plane landed almost on schedule.

The aircraft ran into severe air turbulence at 21,000 feet 50 miles west of Rocky Mountain House, Alta., about 25 minutes flying time from Edmonton.

The public weather office said rain showers were reported in the Rocky Mountain House area at the time. A forecaster said tops of clouds would have ranged up to 25,000 feet.

The Vancouver - Edmonton flight takes one hour and 30 minutes.

The plane was piloted by Capt. George Smith of Vancouver.

Other members of the crew were D. E. Glendinning, first officer; F. A. Lemoine, purser; and Dianne L. Reader and Pat

Hay River Businessmen Ready to Start Again

FORT SMITH, N.W.T. (CP)—Although some lost everything they had, Hay River businessmen indicated Monday they will take their chances with rebuilding on flood-ravaged Vale Island, 500 miles north of Edmonton.

"The river—the thing that's giving us all the trouble—was the reason we were there in the first place," said Don Stewart, a building supply and theatre operator.

Dock facilities for fishing and river traffic were the basic reasons for the town's existence and a major part of the town's revenue, he said.

FORT SIMPSON INT

Fort Simpson, an island community of 700 about 620 miles north of Edmonton at the confluence of the Liard and Mackenzie rivers, also was hit by high water and ice.

More than 1,600 persons were evacuated from both settlements.

Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, who estimated Hay River damage at $1,600,000, said the federal government will decide this week what assistance it will provide for rehabilitation of the two towns.

TO MAKE STUDY

The minister also said that the government will study methods of preventing flooding of Hay River and will look into possible relocation of the community on the mainland.

Other businessmen said diking of the river possibly would be preferable to a mass movement to the mainland.

Cleric on Abortions:

Let Women Decide

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian law should allow a pregnant woman the option of having an abortion, a United Church minister writes in the latest issue of the United Church Observer.

Rev. Ray Goodall, of New Westminster, B.C., says that a change in the law could "eliminate much of the suffering associated with an unwanted pregnancy."

He stated in 1960: "Christian conscience cannot approve abortion."

However, the church said that if doctors feel the pregnancy endangers the mother's physical or mental health "therapeutic abortion may be necessary."

Mr. Goodall said thousands of women, rather than endure an unwanted pregnancy, either take the matter into their own hands or seek out "some quack" for an exorbitant fee — both with tragic results.

He said always the interests of the mother must take precedence over that which is embryonic and unformed.

Air Mishap Fatal

A. Spurgeon, stewardesses, all of Vancouver. TCA said there also were two other stewardesses who were checking job performances.

NOT ENOUGH TIME

Passengers said there was one sharp jolt before many had time to fasten their seat belts. Passenger W. E. McEwan of North Vancouver, said "It was all over in 10 seconds. There was a very brief warning... some got strapped in, some didn't."

Until the time of the jolt the flight was smooth and it was smooth again after the jolt, he said.

FLEW OUT OF SEAT

Mr. McEwan said the man ahead of him flew out of his seat, hit the overhead luggage rack and fell backwards over the seat.

"Coats, hats, luggage were flying everywhere," said one of the stewardesses also was thrown out of her seat but she recovered quickly and gave assistance to the passengers, said Mr. McEwan.

PLANE DROPS

Ordinary Seaman Ian Adams of Battleford, Sask., said "the plane just dropped — I don't know how far but someone said about 800 feet."

He said the passengers had just been informed to fasten their seat belts when the turbulence hit.

"It was no more than a few seconds and some people didn't get their belts fastened. One man across the aisle left his seat completely. He seemed to be suspended in midair for a second or two."

HELD HIM IN PLACE

"They didn't dare move him and the stewardesses put pillows around him and rigged up a strap effort to hold him in place.

"One chap had an eyelid cut and was bleeding quite badly but he was given first aid to control the bleeding."

Adams said he had just got his seat belt fastened when the plane "lunged."

NECK TWISTED

"I got quite a twist of the neck and I felt my belt tighten. There was no panic," said Adams. "The passengers were very good."

He said passengers on the right side of the plane were pushed against the wall and it was those on the left who were shaken up.

Adams described the motion as "a sharp, sliding motion to the left."

Adams and other uninjured passengers continued their flight to Saskatoon and the other eastern points shortly before 4 p.m. MST on another Vanguard.

WORST IN 23 YEARS

Harold Schwartz of Winnipeg, said: "It was the worst turbulence I have been in in 23 years of flying. It came suddenly and did not last as long as some similar instances on previous flights."

"I had my seat belt on. I keep it tightened all the time because usually I fall asleep and do not like to be awakened by the stewardesses to tell me to put my seat belt on."

PRAIRES STEWARDESSES

"There was one stewardess, walking up the aisle beside me. She was thrown to the ceiling of the plane and fell crashing to the floor of the aircraft. But she was terrific."

"She landed back on her feet in one bounce and did a terrific job as did the other stewardesses in quietening and caring for passengers. I think her name was Spurgeon."

SPRAINED NECK

Schwartz suffered a sprained neck. C. J. Nisbet of London, England, said:

"We had just been warned to be prepared for turbulence and we were just starting to put on our safety belts. Then it hit."

"I rose, but the plane dropped. My friend hit his head on the shelf."

Nisbet was not hurt. No emergency equipment was used on the field for the landing because there was no need for it, said TCA station manager Harry Slater. The plane functioned normally.

Four ambulances took the injured to hospital. Two doctors treated the injured at the airport.

A TCA official said the interior of the aircraft was a shambles. Some seats were out of place. Newspapers, blankets and other items from the racks were strewn across the aisle. Some equipment in the galley was dislodged.

The aircraft was locked, awaiting TCA inspectors who will determine what repairs are needed.

Ex-Minister Dies at 88

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Capt. William Windsor, a former Newfoundland cabinet minister and fishing captain, has died at 88.

Capt. Windsor was first elected to the legislature in 1904 and during a 30-year political career served as fisheries minister and postmaster-general.

Hay River Folk Want to Rebuild

"There's one good thing about the flood," Mr. Stewart said, "that is, we've had some attention given our problem at Hay River."

RETURN FOR SURVEY

Six Hay River businessmen planned for return to their homes Monday to survey damage. Curt Merrill, Mackenzie district administrator, also was scheduled to start a tour of the flood-ravaged communities.

There was some easy banter among businessmen about buildings which floated off foundations, and it was suggested people would have to be careful not to move into the wrong houses.

LEGION SHIFTED

"If anybody tries to get into the Legion I'll have him charged with trespass in my back yard," said A. W. Stokes, whose yard now houses the Royal Canadian Legion buildings.

E. E. (Bud) Weiss, general store owner, said his large store and home have been extensively damaged and loss of stock alone will amount to $50,000 with property damage adding another $50,000.

HEAVY LOSSES

Spring supply of goods to construction and survey crews was about to begin and the flood has virtually eliminated it, causing heavy financial losses. Fort Simpson, a trading post established 143 years ago, suffered ice and water damage estimated at more than $750,000.

Only a task force of 12 men, island town. Another 75 persons remained at the mainland airport five miles away. Food was plentiful.

Your Good Health

Alcohol Has Food Value Because of Its Calories

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD
Dear Dr. Molner: A friend claims alcohol has food value, whereas I say that it has no vitamins or minerals — only calories or units of heat.

He argues that people live on alcohol for a week or more. I maintain that they do not live on alcohol but are merely fasting; that is, they could live for a week or more without food or alcohol. What is your answer?—V.L.T.

I hope you didn't make any bets with your friend, because if you did, you have lost.

Yes, alcohol has food value. You are right that it has no vitamins and no minerals but does have calories. However, calories represent food value.

CAN BE HIGHER

Oh, how they represent food value! Too many calories make you fat. They are stored as fat if you consume more than you use up as heat or energy. A drink of straight whisky can mean 100 or more calories. Cocktails and highballs can be higher, and some of the fancy drinks with sweet mixes can be even more.

That's why some people keep gaining on "reducing diets." They forget to keep track of their drinks.

The heavy drinker who goes on a week-long bender doesn't eat because alcohol gives him enough calories — food value or nourishment — to destroy his appetite.

True, he ought to eat while he is drinking. So far as that goes, there is no excuse for such drunks. For health, we need vitamins, minerals, and above all protein, none of which is present in alcohol. But that does not mean that alcohol has no food value.

VERY HARMFUL

The same would be true if you ate nothing but sugar. No vitamins, no protein, no minerals. A week-long candy binge would be very harmful to the health too. Not as bad as an alcoholic binge, because alcohol, in addition to containing food value, is also a drug (a depressant), an intoxicant and destroyer of inhibitions, judgment and co-ordination.

and, in sufficient concentration, a poison.

Trying to live on alcohol alone (or sugar alone, or some other single food item) would be like trying to run a car by adding nothing but gasoline. You could do it for a time, but presently the car would begin to fall apart for lack of oil, grease, water, air in the tires, and so on.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl of 18 and frequently have pains in my ankles, knees and wrists. What causes them and what can be done?—L.L.

Growing youngsters can have such pains because of too much activity and not enough rest. (They aren't "growing pains.") A possibility is arthritis—it CAN occur at a young age. Rheumatic fever is another. I trust you'll get checked by your family physician. The first thing I listed is easily taken care of by more rest. The other two are serious and need attention without delay.

To Mrs. W.M.J.: Yes, surgery is the only solution for a rectal fistula.

Spy Charge Denied By Scientist

SOUTHEND, England (UPI)—An Italian-born nuclear physicist said through his attorney in court Monday he is innocent of charges of violating Britain's Official Secrets Act.

Dr. Giuseppe Martelli, 39, a representative of Euratom in Britain, was arrested last month when he flew here from Brussels. Details of the charges against him have not been disclosed.

The formal charge declares that "on a date between Sept. 23, 1960, and April 4, 1963, he did commit an act preparatory to the commission of an offence contrary to" certain sections of the Official Secrets Act.

Officials said they would be ready to proceed with the case May 15. He was remanded to jail until then.

Attorney F. J. Calderan said he had no objection but "this is the first opportunity for anything to be said on his behalf. He would like it to be known it is his intention to plead not guilty."

Martelli had been working at a laboratory at Culham, England, with a team engaged in nuclear power research projects for peaceful purposes.

An expert on plasma physics, he is legally separated from his Russian-born wife Olga, 44, who lives in Pisa, Italy. They have two children, Sergio, 15, and Eleonora, 12.

'Good Lawyer' Picked By U.K. Spy Suspect

MOSCOW (Reuters)—British businessman Greville Wynne goes on trial today on espionage charges which could result in a death sentence.

Wynne, 42, will have been in prison for 186 days when he stands to hear the charges read in the hall of sessions of the Russian Supreme Court.

A Russian scientific worker, Oleg Penkovsky, 43, faces trial with him.

Wynne conferred with his Russian lawyer in his cell Monday. A senior official of the Moscow lawyers' department described the defence counsel, Nikolai Borovik, as "a very good lawyer" and added: "Wynne chose him himself."

Wynne's attractive wife, Sheila, 42, spent 30 minutes with British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan Monday discussing the trial.

Mrs. Wynne arrived here Sunday and said she had been told she would not be allowed to see her husband before the trial. She last saw him in December for one hour.

Guards Killed Guard

Hostage Died from Prison Bullets

MONTREAL (CP)—An autopsy has disclosed that guard Raymond Tellier was killed by bullets fired by fellow guards and not stabbed to death by two prisoners holding him hostage in a cell of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary.

Result of the autopsy was disclosed Monday by a Montreal morgue official. A post-mortem examination had shown that Tellier had been hit four times by bullets—twice in the heart, once in the head and once in the shoulder.

However, said the autopsy report, he might have died in any event from a stab wound that pierced his lung.

Tellier was slashed and stabbed while being held May 2 by two prisoners who grabbed him and forced him into their cell.

Prison guards rushed the cell when they saw blood seeping under the cell door. Firing pistols as they moved in, the guards killed convict Marcel Marcoux, 34, and wounded his cousin Claude Marcoux, 21.

When order was restored, it was announced by penitentiary officials that Tellier, 35-year-old father of three, had died from the slashes and the stab wounds.

The justice department has announced a board of inquiry will be established to investigate the deaths and the events leading up to them.

Warden Michel Lecorre disclosed Sunday that "a feeling of extreme tension" gripped the penitentiary following the shootings. He said 20 RCMP and 11 provincial police officers were called to the prison to help maintain order.

The reinforcements were engaged in a cell-by-cell search for concealed weapons.

In Ottawa Monday penitentiaries commissioner A. J. MacLeod met warden Lecorre to discuss how to prevent further outbreaks of violence.

Mr. MacLeod said afterwards that under the circumstances the prison guards had no alternative but to use gunfire in an attempt to rescue Tellier.

Shame, Cries SIU

CLC 'Principles Sold Out'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Seafarers International Union opened a five-day convention Monday which is expected to voice down-the-line support for the SIU of Canada in its bitter Great Lakes membership battle with the Canadian Maritime Union.

A booklet being distributed at the convention charged the Canadian Labor Congress had "sold out its principles" in backing the CMU.

Hal Banks, head of the SIU of Canada, was expected to arrive Tuesday.

The booklet reiterated the charge the union made before Justice T. G. Norris at the Canadian federal inquiry into the dispute that the CMU was the creation of the James Norris business empire. (There is no relation between Justice Norris and James Norris.)

But, it added: "The shame-workers."

full fact is that the resources of the Canadian labor movement is being perverted to serve a strike-breaking objective and to depress the standard of living of Canadian workers."

Intriguing Prospect

THE DECISION of Mr. Fulton to seek a James Bay seat as representative for the Kamloops constituency promises to create probably the most intriguing single contest in the next provincial general election. This is the home seat of Mr. Gagliardi, one of the acknowledged stalwarts of the Bennett administration.

No doubt the new Conservative leader could have chosen an easier riding in which to seek entry into the legislature, but his decision is consistent with his character and an earnest of his intentions to bring his party back into the B.C. picture on the provincial level. He will not shrink from challenge or difficulty in pursuit of his purpose.

While the election boundaries are not the same Kamloops has also been his political home, of course. Mr. Fulton has held the federal seat of this area for the past 18 years, ample testimony by his constituency voters of their appreciation of the distinguished role that was his as a cabinet minister at Ottawa. He should be assured therefore of substantial support as he applies his talents to provincial affairs.

Provincial and federal persuasions do not always coincide, however, and on the other hand Mr. Gagliardi has held the provincial Kamloops seat for the past ten years, a circumstance which suggests he will not be easily unseated. He too will have substantial support.

It should be a battle royal therefore between two politicians of stature and arresting personality, quite the most titillating of all the 52 contests which Mr. Fulton is engaged in organizing as the fresh and inspiring leader of the provincial Conservatives.

For a Few Cents

THE DIEFENBAKER government proposed to place the redistribution of constituencies, in line with the 1961 census returns, in the hands of a non-partisan tribunal to remove it from political influence. Now it falls to Prime Minister Pearson to carry out this reform to ensure that future allocation of parliamentary seats is on the basis of population and not of party advantage. There is every indication that he will do so.

In preparation for the task of revising the constituency boundaries, Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay is going to Australia for three weeks, to study the system of redistribution by impartial commission used there for the last 60 years. He also may take a look, it is suggested, at Australia's permanent voters-list arrangements, with a view to possible alteration of the Canadian requirements of a time-consuming and expensive enumeration of voters before every election.

In both respects, there is no reason to doubt that studying the "down-under" procedure will be helpful in considering what Canada could best do to improve its own.

But especially with austerity-in-government still cramping the civil service under the new administration, as outlined in the Ottawa Offbeat column on this page on Saturday, and with the Australian system surely documented to the full, one must wonder if it is necessary for Mr. Castonguay to be sent half way round the world for the information.

Could it not be obtained for the price of an airmail stamp?

Distorted Picture

VICTORIA'S fatal-accident records presents a dismal picture in the Canadian Highway Safety Council's statistical review of 1962. Among 43 cities in Canada with a population of 40,000 or more, Victoria was 42nd in safety, in terms of fatal traffic accidents for each 10,000 of its people.

Under no circumstances can this be regarded complacently. But it is only just to note that the safety council's figures treat Victoria as a city apart from its neighbors, when in fact it is the hub of a metropolitan region, its streets used daily by most of the motoring public of Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich, let alone Langford and Colwood and the northern Saanich Peninsula.

A fairer assessment by far would be to compare the records of whole metropolitan areas as units. In the current case Victoria, the focal point of a region of almost 150,000 population, competes with Burnaby which with 98,000 people qualifies in that respect as Canada's 13th largest city, despite its suburban nature.

That said, however, it must also be observed that other centres of metropolitan areas are treated in the same way in the tabulations, and Vancouver, for apt comparison, had a ratio of fatal accidents to every 10,000 people of only .728, against Victoria's 1.638. Victoria still has much to blush about, and to seek to correct.

They Do Not Forget

ONLY A PEOPLE who have lived under the heel of an invader can have an abiding memory of what liberation has meant. The aftermath of war dulls the sharpness of events which recede with the years. Even troops which took part in recapturing the lands of others cannot quite share the poignancy that lingers with the liberated.

Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands was a reminder of this when he spoke at a ceremony in Vancouver on Sunday in commemoration of the liberation of his country eighteen years ago that day.

It was sometimes difficult, he said, to remember the sacrifices made which lifted the "veil of darkness" which the last war spread over Europe. But the Dutch people do not forget. Each year at this time they recall with gratitude the arrival of Allied troops, including the Canadian forces which played such a large part in their liberation. And as Prince Bernhard himself did at the Cenotaph in Victory Square, they turn out to place wreaths in memory of those who fell while releasing them from Nazi chains.

All over Europe there are communities who think fondly of Canada and Canadian troops, in areas to whom the sight of these advancing troops eighteen years ago meant the end of long travail and relief from oppression. This country has many friends in Europe, who do not forget even nearly two decades later the men who made their freedom possible.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and scaling wex..."
By TOM TAYLOR

ONE does not think of a "pinkie" laying a professional blunder low, except perhaps if his opponent struck one in his eye. And this is not likely when it is curled up inside a big boxing glove. Yet a pinkie it is that has offended Mr. Floyd Patterson on the eve of a championship boxing engagement by swelling to twice its normal size so that he can no longer curl it in his glove.

Pinkies in curl do have distressing ways, one is forced to recollect, such as when extended ostentatiously while holding a tea cup. This I believe is a social gauche. Such behavior offends the code and is not quite the thing.

Indeed I find that the word pinkie itself is of dubious status. The dictionary condescends only to list it at the end of the "pinkies" of wide variation, and then qualifies it with that "Dial" diminutive. It does not belong in the charmed circles of literary English.

Why the little finger should be called a pinkie, in fact, I haven't found out in my cursory exploration of fingers per se. Until now I have taken the fingers of my hand for granted and it was Mr. Patterson's affliction, and my sympathy for his predicament, that induced me to learn more about these handy little spigots.

The Anglo-Saxons who have bequeathed us much of their semantic shenanigans did not call the little finger a pinkie. They called it the ear-finger because being so tiny it could be introduced most easily into the office of the ear. Now, says this is as great a social lapse as flaunting it with a tea-cup and it is also medically frowned upon. My own doctor informs me the smallest item to be thrust into the ear should be one's elbow.

Medical inquirer I have been interested to find has had a finger in another finger, the one next to the pinkie. Of old at least the thought was that a nerve ran through it to the heart—it may still do so for all of my own clinical understanding—and so it was called the "medical finger," although for a reason I need not elaborate it has also been venerated throughout the ages as the "ring finger." But the Greeks and the Romans used it for stirring mixtures—bad form now, you appreciate—convincing that nothing noxious could touch it without a warning beat from the heart. Perhaps you should think of this before spooning your porridge tomorrow morning.

All I can discover about the middle finger of the hand is that it is, obviously, the long finger, or in ancient parlance the "long-man." I should have thought it deserved more amplification because of its size and the central guidance it gives to the grip of the hand, but perhaps its length made other connotations unnecessary.

Continuing backwards, as the hands of a clock do when committing their own social sin, there is that notable finger the "toucher," the finger that touches, or, otherwise, the "foreman," which points the way to a puzzled stranger. We know it as the index finger, says the authority whose learning I am giving you the benefit of, "because it is the one used in pointing."

Pointing indiscriminately, however, so I believe, is not something that the well-bred do, being as grave a social offence as curling the pinkie in the circumstance aforementioned.

This leaves us, if I have counted my fingers aright, merely with the Anglo-Saxon "thumb," the thumb, to deal with. It is a finger yet not a finger, if you can follow me. It is stationed as far away from the pinkie as well it can be without removal in entirety, and has a kind of stature of its own. It provides the other half of the human vice, as when your fingers are crushed by those of a larger and inconsiderate friend.

So there you are. And all this, mind you, because Mr. Patterson hurt his pinkie. People ARE funny.

"How are you fixed for blades?"

An Additional Uncertainty

By MARQUIS CHILDS

ANOTHER "X" factor has been added to the growing uncertainty within the Atlantic alliance. The new unknown is the doubt raised by the outcome of the Italian elections over whether a centre-left government under Amintore Fanfani can function as an effective partner.

The Kennedy administration has put a big bet on bringing both Italy and Germany into the multi-lateral nuclear force. This is the sea-based medium-range ballistic missile force that would operate with mixed crews, the whole to be paid for by the participating countries. It is a counter to the French go-it-alone policy of creating a national nuclear deterrent.

On the president's trip next month the climax both in Italy and Germany was to be an announcement of an accord on the new joint force. That may still come off. But the shadow of the election result, with the Christian Democrats losing nearly four per cent of their total strength in the vote on the Chamber of Deputies, raises a question whether Fanfani can form a government strong enough to bring about such a move.

The impression is growing in Europe that Washington is pressing too hard and the pressure may very well run counter to a deep political undercurrent manifesting itself in a distinctly leftward trend. While names are hard to fit to this undercurrent—old claims such as disengagement—it seems to reflect a growing concern over nuclear involvement under the domination of Washington.

As for Germany, high officials of the U.S. government believe that when France sets off its first primitive atomic weapon the German demand to do likewise will come in a restorable. That is what they have been told by high officials of the Bonn government including Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder. So the pressure within the U.S. administration is to hurry, hurry.

hurry in putting together a combined nuclear force—first an Allied force to be announced at the Ottawa NATO meeting later this month and next the multi-lateral force as the climax of the Kennedy tour of Europe.

Recently the president was given a different viewpoint. He is said to have been told by Fritz Erler, deputy head of the Social Democrats, in the course of a White House visit, that the German people are far more reluctant to get into the nuclear act than certain of their political leaders. He argued that Germany's impressive contribution to NATO's land forces was an example of how the Atlantic community should share the defence burden. If this sharing were explained to the German people, so the argument goes, they would accept American responsibility for the nuclear deterrent.

The series of Social Democratic victories in Berlin and in several of the provinces, with corresponding losses for the Christian Democrats, underscore this viewpoint. Voters in Hanover this month are considered certain to hand the Christian Democrats another defeat. Part of this can be put down to resentment over the refusal of the venerable chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, to make way for a new government. But the Socialists, with Mayor Willy Brandt as their leader, are establishing a popular regime in the country.

Changes in Germany

By OTTO VON HARSBURG

RECENT elections in a number of German cities and Länder have shown a decline of the Christian Democrats and a general increase of support for the Socialists. The latter, nevertheless, are by no means able to pick up all the votes lost by the majority party. Still it is likely that the German Left will have serious chances at the next general elections two years hence.

Usually the current crisis of the majority is explained by dissatisfaction with the way in which the succession to the chancellorship was handled. Adenauer's impending resignation and the circumstances surrounding the choice of his successor have done nothing to increase the party's prestige. The Christian Democratic Party (CDU) has shown no cohesion and no discipline. Nevertheless this seems not to be the main problem.

Mr. Wehner, and those who worked with him, had the courage to admit their errors. They accepted the essence of Chancellor Adenauer's program in thus conceding victory for the old statesman. What happened nevertheless was that this triumph was too complete. Christian Democracy—a member of Parliament, Baron Gutenberg, stated—had no longer to face an enemy; but it suddenly had a rival on its left wing. The latter was not well guarded.

The success of the Socialist Party is due to the fact that major elements of the voting community believe that it has genuinely mended its ways. Representing yesterday a class, German Socialism has now become new national in scope.

After the universal acceptance of their program, the problem for the Christian Democrats is today very similar to the one the Socialists had to master after their total defeat. The majority party must reorganize and create an image which corresponds to present-day necessities. It is simply impossible, as some politicians hope, to win another election by campaigning against an enemy who no longer exists.

The CDU must develop points in its program which will distinguish it from its rivals on the left. If they do not succeed, their defeat will be inevitable. When differences between parties tend to disappear, the electorate gets easily tired of the government.

The future of the political formations in Germany is now in their own hands. There is yet time for the leaders of the CDU to hold their troops and even to regain the lost terrain through adequate forms. But this hour of grace will not last.

If, thanks to the present majority's complacency, the Social Democrats win the next elections, this will certainly not be the revenge of Senfacher or Ollenhauer. It will be the just reward for those who had the courage to recognize their mistakes and to start anew on a fresh basis.

Amazing Switch

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

WHAT is it that so suddenly happens to a prime minister when he becomes opposition leader as to almost make him invisible?

In those first few frantic action-packed days of Prime Minister Pearson's new Liberal administration, former Conservative Prime Minister Diefenbaker disappeared—not only from the nation's front pages, where for six interesting and often exciting years he had taken so much headline space—but also, it seemed, from Parliament Hill itself.

For Mr. Diefenbaker, so long the political showman, used to the glare and stare of the public spotlight—and loving every moment of it—this was an astonishing vanishing act.

He was holed up, hermit-like, in the opposition leader's Centre Block office, arriving early, along about seven in the morning, before Parliament Hill comes to work, and leaving late, long after the civil service goes for the day.

And what was keeping him so quietly busy and so unusually out of sight?

"Signing thousands—and I mean just that, thousands—of 'thank you' notes," confided a bored aide, long used to the frenzied pace of a prime minister's office and not yet slowed down to the leisurely measure of an opposition leader's way of official life.

"Seems almost like he's determined to personally thank every last person he thinks voted for him, and sign each note, even if it means wearing his arm down to the elbow."

That Mr. Diefenbaker, the old political pro, should be so pains to do this is not particularly strange—for personal and party loyalty is made of such stuff as recognition and appreciation of big and little favors.

But that he, for a lifetime the flamboyant extrovert—even, some critics would say, the political medicine man—should go into what was almost a public eclipse, was odd indeed.

John Diefenbaker has been in opposition before. In fact, after spending all of his public life in the out-of-power wilderness, even became its leader. And he was a tiger then.

On his "good days," when he was hot, he could "top" any prime minister, including the formidable old foe Mackenzie King, in making the news.

What he did to kindly, courteous old Prime Minister (Uncle) Louis St. Laurent, should have been against the political law.

Let "Uncle Louie" make a public pronouncement of importance, deliver a speech in the Commons or otherwise appear—with dignity—in the public eye, and more often than not, Mr. Diefenbaker would stand the spotlight with something dramatic, expertly pulled out of the political hat just before afternoon newspaper final edition time across Ontario and Quebec.

And now so uncharacteristically silent, gone, as if it had been in invisible primers' ink, from the news columns.

Just scant months ago, Mr. Pearson used to be afraid—some said terrified—of John Diefenbaker. For the latter had cut him up with such cruelty in the Commons that Colin Cameron, the old Nainaimo OCFP, accused him of turning the House into a political "abattoir."

It seemed to leave a scar on Mike Pearson and made this gentle and retiring man almost timid.

But now the scar seemed to be on the other psyche, and here was Prime Minister Pearson talking confidently, even boasting of what he called "60 blazing days of dynamic decision"—and in the opening weeks, going like mad to make it all come true.

Men who have known them both for years looked at the smiling, daring, dramatic "new" Pearson, and the third, troubled, timid "new" Diefenbaker and wondered how long it could last.

Was it still really the "old" John, cunningly preparing an ambush?

When the Commons opened would the fire be dying in those "60 blazing days of dynamic decision," for how long can dynamism throw such dazzling sparks?

You hear tales—going unheeded—that Mr. Diefenbaker, still the old fireball, will be up on his feet each day in the Commons, hand on hip, eyes flaming, stiff index finger stabbing across accusingly at the freshman prime minister, and dramatically intoning: "It's day 26—60 minus 28. What have they done today?" And so it might go until the prime minister's "action clock" runs out and it's "day 60."

"Sixty minus sixty. What have they done today?"

Time's up June 18. It could be quite a day.

"It's news management of sorts—I always time a Kennedy press conference with some digging I want done in the garden."

Mountie Hero Given New Honors

VANCOUVER (CP) — More honor was paid Monday to Cpl. Garry Fraser, an RCMP officer who lost a leg while foiling a bank holdup.

To a George Medal the corporal has already received for "courage of a high order" was added a cheque for $2,000—paid to a benefit fund—a cigarette case and a $500 purchase order for his wife.

BANK ROBBER

In March, 1962, the severely wounded corporal — then a constable — disarmed a robber of a bank at Terrace.

He was so severely wounded his left leg had to be amputated above the knee and he received 30 blood transfusions. His recovery has been described as miraculous.

The Pacific Bankers' Association presented Cpl. Fraser with a cheque for the RCMP Benefit Fund.

Pearson, Kennedy Will Set Pattern

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy will clear the way for early Canadian-U.S. agreement on continental defence arrangements during their weekend talks in Hyannis Port, Mass., it was learned Monday.

Main feature will be the acquisition of U.S.-provided nuclear warheads for Canada's Voodoo interceptors and Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles.

Highly-placed informants say the Pearson-Kennedy discussions on North American defence will set the pattern for a "pretty rapid" series of developments culminating in a detailed agreement.

Talks between Defence Minister Halliday and U.S. Secretary of Defence McNamara, possibly during the NATO ministerial meeting here May 22-25, probably will be the next step.

Once these high-level sessions are completed, both governments will be in a position to leave the problem with officials to work out the details of the final exchange of notes.

A bilateral agreement on nuclear warheads and continental defence strategy should help remove one of the major sore spots which developed in Canadian-U.S. relations under the Diefenbaker administration.

Pearson, who flies to Hyannis Port Friday for two days of informal talks with Kennedy, is firmly committed to the acquisition of nuclear warheads for Canadian forces at home and with the NATO shield in Europe.

There are suggestions Kennedy is willing to provide warheads on a free lend-lease basis as a "favor" to the new Canadian government.

Pearson is expected to press Kennedy to an assurance Canada will be provided with an adequate replacement for the Bomarc on the same priority basis as the U.S.

He is less than satisfied with the North American Air Defence Command structure and may want to sound out Kennedy on possible changes.

Two Victoria men, both navy veterans, lost their lives as the result of weekend car accidents.

Dead are Thomas Henry English, 45, of 2180 Cranleigh Road, and Thomas Marshall Standbridge, 61, of 1343 Stanley.

Mr. English suffered a fractured skull and broken ribs when his car smashed into a rock bluff at the summit of the Malahat early Saturday. He died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

Mr. Standbridge was returning alone from a fishing trip to Princeton when his car hit a bridge abutment about 1:15 p.m. Sunday 19 miles east of Hope. He was killed instantly.

Crashes Kill City Navy Veterans

Two Victoria men, both navy veterans, lost their lives as the result of weekend car accidents.

Dead are Thomas Henry English, 45, of 2180 Cranleigh Road, and Thomas Marshall Standridge, 61, of 1345 Stanley.

Mr. English suffered a fractured skull and broken ribs when his car smashed into a rock bluff at the summit of the Malahat early Saturday. He died in St. Joseph's Hospital Sunday.

FISHING TRIP

Mr. Standridge was returning alone from a fishing trip to Princeton when his car hit a bridge abutment about 1:15 p.m. Sunday 19 miles east of Hope. He was killed instantly.

Police said his car apparently skidded on snow and ran off onto a soft shoulder, travelling some distance before crashing into the concrete abutment of a bridge over a creek.

BOWLING MEETING

Mr. English was returning home from a bowling meeting. He had seat belts in his car but, at the time of the accident, his belt was not fastened.

Mr. English, a native of Swindon, England, was a retired chief petty officer. He had lived in Victoria most of his life.

He was an employee of Dickinson & Dunn, 1620 Blanshard, and a member of the Chiefs' and Petty Officers' Association and Vancouver and Quadra Lodge No. 2, AF & AM.

He is survived by his widow, Enid; a son, Barry, and three daughters.

Canadians Eating Less Red Meat

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians ate less red meat last year on a per capita basis but still tucked away an average 138.5 pounds for every man, woman and child, the bureau of statistics said Monday.

Higher prices might have influenced the decline, with more competition from poultry, fish, cheese and other meat substitutes.

But Men Shaken

GOP Women Back Rocky

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The effect of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's remarriage on his presidential chances appeared Monday to be a matter of wide disagreement among grass roots Republican leaders.

The only hard facts are it is a number one topic of conversation among politicians and few are counting it as an asset for Rockefeller.

A survey of Republican national committee members and other party leaders showed, however, national committee women who commented appeared to be less apprehensive than committeemen about the effects on women voters.

Speculation was touched off by the news Saturday that Rockefeller, divorced last year by his wife of 31 years, had been married to Mrs. Margaretta Fitter Murphy, 36, the mother of four young children, who obtained a divorce last month from a Rockefeller Institute researcher.

G.O.P. leaders contacted in 42 states and the District of Columbia were almost evenly divided when asked whether they thought the marriage would hurt Rockefeller's G.O.P. nomination chances.

But of the national committeewomen only three said they believed the marriage definitely would hurt.

"Seemingly divorce did not hurt him . . . and I wouldn't think remarriage would hurt him," said Patricia Hitt of California. "Twenty or 25 years ago it might have made a greater difference."

"It was predicted his divorce would hurt his re-election . . . but it didn't," said Mrs. Claire Williams of Florida. "I think his private life is his own business and I think most people look at it that way."

Books that Spur Imagination, Broaden Knowledge

Through special arrangement with the Editors of LIFE, Safeway offers you and your family an unprecedented bargain in great reading. LIFE has adapted its huge, best-selling book THE WORLD WE LIVE IN into a Special Family Edition consisting of three library volumes! These books are the outgrowth of the most acclaimed and widely-read series of articles ever to appear in LIFE.

Here is the exciting story of Earth's natural history. Here you will see and have clearly explained how mountains, valleys, oceans and continents came to be . . . you will take in all the incredible diversity of plants and animals from two billion years ago to today and come to understand how and why they evolved as they did . . . you will marvel at the look of forests, seas, deserts, skies, frozen wastelands, and the starry universe and gain a perception of the part they play in Nature's plan.

THE WORLD WE LIVE IN series represents over a million dollars of investment in time, talent and production. Each new volume is large (8 1/4" x 11") and is printed on fine quality book paper. Each volume is 100 or more pages long, with beautiful, informative illustrations on nearly every page (most in full color) and over 30,000 words. For this series the Editors of LIFE sent photographer-writer-artist expeditions into every conceivable area of the world. Top scientific authorities were called into repeated consultation on every phase—planning and advance research alone required two years. Artists and illustrators reproduced scenes never before looked upon by man. Lincoln Barnett, one of the most lucid of contemporary science writers, turned this wealth of scientific material into an absorbing and beautifully told story.

Three Johnson compacts prove a little money can go a long way

Johnson compacts are amazing motors. Their initial cost is low yet their staying power is high. The compacts go a long way between gas stops (on 5 gallons of gas a 5 1/2 can cruise for 11 hours). They only need servicing once a year and practically never see the inside of a repair shop. They start with the first pull and run religiously season after season. In the long run, a Johnson gives you more dogged dependability for your dollars than any outboard at any price.

The compacts are light and trim. Bulk and weight is pared to a minimum. Underwater exhaust and beveled gears mean the compacts run quiet. They are long on features other small outboards skimp on, such as full gearshift, complete corrosion proofing, fuel pump, thermostat-controlled cooling.

Find out how far your money will go. See the Johnson Compact 18, 10 and 5 1/2 at your Johnson Dealers. With almost a thousand dealers across Canada service is never a problem when you own a Johnson.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

Only Eric Hiberson had managed to win the Island match play golf championship more than once until Bill Wakeham, 22, and looking as if he will go on to win it many times more, defeated 17-year-old Gary Smith at Colwood on Sunday.

The Gorge Vale youngster, who has represented B.C. and Canada in amateur team matches, has rarely looked so rugged an opponent as he was in his latest triumph. Wakeham has played better, but seldom has he turned on the pressure more relentlessly than he did in the final quarter Sunday.

Smith had played some magnificent golf to overcome a two-hole deficit and start the last nine holes with a one-hole lead. Wakeham suddenly turned on an easy-going weekend golfer into a wounded tiger. He took five of the next seven holes and finished Smith off with three straight birdies.

With a little more experience, I believe Smith might have won. He allowed chances to slip by when Wakeham was in trouble and when the heat was on, he perceptibly hastened his swing.

It was the development of a hook by Smith which enabled Wakeham to get himself back into the game, and there can be no doubt but that Wakeham put his opportunities to full account.

Taking nothing away from Wakeham's great victory it can be said the honors went largely to the Colwood teenager. It was a terrific ordeal to play before such a large gallery for the first time in his life and the way he played his shots and conducted himself does him credit.

"I had no idea this boy was such a good golfer and such a good swinger. He looks to have a great future," was a sum-up for all given by Joe Pryke, Gorge Vale professional.

There are many who will want to be associated with Wakeham's remarks at the prize-giving ceremony, when he wished Smith well in the up-coming Canadian junior championships, in August at Colwood.

The Centennial Foursomes will be played at Gorge Vale, Sunday, May 26, and entry forms for this popular district event will be in the hands of local clubs this weekend.

The competition is open to amateur and professional golfers in B.C. who have duly accredited RGA handicaps. Entry fee is $7 per team. All prizes are on a handicap basis, and the combined handicap of the players forming the team applies. Pros play off scratch.

The growing popularity of senior golf in B.C. was reflected last Friday at Colwood when 120 of the over-55 brigade turned out for the Vancouver Island Senior Association's spring meeting.

The attendance, a record, was achieved by the presence of 58 members of the B.C. Senior Association from Vancouver, and the special lure was the initiation of a new inter-association competition for the Tom Heathfield Rose Bowl.

With a lot of low handicap men on their team, the mainlanders were hopeful of being the first winners of the new trophy, but the Islanders, given a great lead by Larry McCooey of the home club, romped home to an easy victory.

As island president Jack Brown said at the subsequent dinner "I can hardly believe it," when told that his team had won.

Mid-Island junior championship will be held at Nanaimo on Monday, May 20, and as in previous years the Nanaimo club is extending a welcome to Victoria juniors to take part in the event. Entry fee $2.

Nanaimo is also staging its Navy League open tournament on Saturday, May 11. Entry fee of $5 includes green fees and meals.

Entries for both events should be sent to the secretary, Vancouver Island Golf Club, PO Box 186, Nanaimo.

Over 40 players of the Seattle Golf Club are coming to Victoria Saturday for the first annual match with the Victoria Golf Club.

The first round of the 36 hole handicap championship of Gorge Vale Golf club will be played Sunday, May 12, and the final round will be a week later.

The Victoria District Golf committee will meet at Gorge Vale Thursday evening, May 9 at 7:30. A full attendance of all representatives is requested.

All the Way

New Canadian sports car champion is Seattle's Jerry Grant, left, here accepting trophy from R. B. Alexander, representing tobacco company which sponsored race at Westwood track near Coquitlam Saturday. Grant drove Lotus 19 powered by Buick engine, and led from starter's flag.

Champs Indicate Repeat Possible

Nanaimo Volvos came on strongly in the second half last night and beat Jokers, 8-5, at Memorial Arena in the opening game of the Senior "B" Lacrosse League.

Jokers, getting two goals from Fred Doig and singles from White Wakelyn and Norm Hiron, had a 4-2 lead at the half. Then Nanaimo's defending B.C. champions took over, scoring three unanswered goals in the third quarter to grab the lead for good.

Don Morelli, who played with the senior Nanaimo club and scored twice against Victoria Shamrocks Saturday in Nanaimo, led the "B" club with three goals, the others going to Roschuk, Millar, Bill Good, Joe Manzini and Ray Biggs.

Alf Shukker, who also starred against Shamrocks Saturday, was in the nets for Volvos and made 22 saves. Spencer Simmons blocked 23 for Jokers, whose lone second-half goal came from Norm Parker.

Jokers and Nanaimo meet again Thursday in Nanaimo, and Tugman visit Nanaimo next Tuesday.

Seals Are Champs After Tough Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Orlando Kurtenbach scored in overtime Monday night to give the San Francisco Seals a 4-3 victory over Seattle Totems and the Western Hockey League championship.

An all-time record crowd of 12,404 roared its approval as Kurtenbach scored on a knee-high shot at 4:09 and gave the Seals the Lester Patrick Cup.

Other San Francisco scorers were Duke Edmundson, Moe Mantha and Danny Belisle. For Seattle it was Bob Sabourin, with two, and Jim Powers.

The victory gave the Seals the championship four games to three in the best-of-seven series.

The crowd, huge by WHL standards, hung on long after the final red light, showering the ice with confetti and cheering, "Go, Seals, go."

A victory parade through downtown San Francisco was scheduled for today.

It was the fourth overtime battle in seven playoff games.

Seattle (Goal: Miller; defense: Barrie, Hay, Ward, Kosh, Krawinkel; forwards: MacFarland, Hall, Leonard, Chupka, Sabourin, Krake).

There are continuing signs that normalcy is about to return to major league baseball but it has been an abnormal first month, and it's ending on an almost bizarre note.

It was only mildly surprising in the American League when Baltimore Orioles made an early pitch to be recognized as pennant contenders but it was not short of amazing last week to see Boston Red Sox lose out to Kansas City Athletics in a series for first place.

Matters started off almost as oddly in the National League when Milwaukee Braves boldly sprinted to the lead as Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds got away badly. It improved a bit when St. Louis Cardinals took the lead and were ousted by Pittsburgh Pirates. But now we have the Chicago Cubs taking pennant.

It sounds silly, and it almost certainly is, but the fact remains that the Cubs are playing as if it was a possibility. If they make it, they will make baseball history as the first club to get into the world series without a manager.

PLAIN STUBBORNNESS

Never rated higher than eighth in pre-season calculations except by the blindly hopeful, the Cubs had to play their first 12 games against the Dodgers and San Francisco Giants. They broke even, then looked like their rating as they lost five of their next six games.

But the Cubs have bounced back. They sneaked by the Braves, 3-2, Sunday, to make it six out of seven. They're in fourth place, only two games out, and it's said that some of the Cubs are starting to think that Ernie Banks was serious when he said in spring training that the team had a chance.

HANG ON

Meanwhile, the Pirates managed to stay in front of the Cards by splitting two week-end games with the Dodgers. They blew one Sunday, 3-7, when pinch-hitter Lee Walls

Solid Short Game Gives Wakeham Island Golf Title

Bill Wakeham chipped best when the chips were down Sunday, and won the Vancouver Island match play open golf tournament for the second time in six years.

Wakeham, the reigning B.C. Amateur champion, beat 17-year-old Gary Smith, 4 and 2, in a 36-hole final at Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club before about 1,500 people. And he did it on the strength of his chipping.

Wakeham was two up after 13 and one down after 27, but in the last nine holes he blocked Smith's bid to join him as the only two juniors ever to win this event. This time it was Wakeham's putting that did it.

He rattled in three successive birdies starting on the 32nd hole. The first two came by sinking 20-foot putts that put him three up, the third on a chip shot that dropped to end the match.

UNNERVING HOLE
The final hole was an unnerving one for both Wakeham and Smith. Gary's badly-hooked tee shot hit an 11-year-old boy—

Wakeham's second cousin Gary Wakeham. He was rushed to hospital and released after three hours.

Wakeham finished with a four-over par 74 in the morning, played even par golf in the afternoon. Smith was 11 over for the 34 holes, conceding him a double-bogey six on the final hole.

Later came the post-mortems. Wakeham did a lot of praise for Smith, and Smith admitting to difficulties with his putter.

Complete list of prize-winners:
Open Champion—Bill Wakeham, Colwood.
Amateur—Gary Smith, Royal Colwood.

Canada's performance in the fourth Pan-American Games just ended in Sao Paulo, Brazil, was the best the country has done since this Caribbean and North and South America athletic extravaganza began in 1951.

The 134-member team accumulated 63 medals—10 gold, 26 second-place silver and 27 third-place bronze, compared with the previous best of seven gold, 21 silver and 29 bronze won by the 175-member team in Chicago in 1959.

The 10 golds included the first five track and field championships Canada has ever won in Pan-American competition. This was in contrast to published opinion by some observers who said prior to the Games Canada would come home with a flock of silver and bronze medals and a few gold in shooting and gymnastics.

In the 100-metre butterfly swim, where Mary Stewart of Vancouver was favored, in the women's 800-metres won by Abby Hoffman of Toronto and the 20,000-metre walk, won by Alex Oakley of Ottawa, Ont.

Jack Mows Away Rakes in $13,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Masters champion Jack Nicklaus, playing with all the emotion of a man mowing the lawn, tucked away golf's $60,000 Tournament of Champions Sunday with a final round three-under-par 69 and a 72-hole total of 273.

Pocketing the top money of $13,000, the methodical 23-year-old slammer virtually loafed in five strokes in front of the defending tournament champion, Arnold Palmer, who had a 68, and Tony Lema, who blazed from behind with a 66 to tie Palmer at 278. Each won $3,300.

Hard-luck man of the event over the par 36-72 Desert Inn Country Club course was Bill Casper Jr., forced to withdraw after eight holes because of an inflamed and badly swollen left hand. He was four strokes back of Nicklaus, the nearest to him at that time, when he bowed out.

Nicklaus, playing this tournament for the first time, said: "I played better golf from tee to green at the Masters but I putted better here."

Soccer Fans Riot On Belfast Liner

GLASGOW (AP) — A Belfast-bound liner returned to Glasgow for police protection when fighting among rival soccer fans broke out on board Saturday night.

The Royal Ulsterman had gone about one-quarter mile when fighting started among supporters of the rival Rangers and Celtic soccer teams. About 600 fans were returning to Belfast after the Scottish Cup final at Hampden Park where the teams tied 1-1.

The captain headed back where waiting police arrested four men on charges of disorderly behavior.

Glasgow Chief Constable James Robertson called for volunteers, and 24 policemen agreed to provide police protection during the passage to Belfast. The vessel sailed more than three hours behind schedule.

And the likelihood is that the old rivalry will flare up again before the season is over. The rematch is on May 15.

B.C. Cities Should Name Industrial Commissioners

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Victoria and the other leading cities of B.C. were urged Monday by Robert McDowell, chairman of the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, to do more to promote industrial development in the province.

He wants the leading cities to appoint their own industrial commissioners and have them backed with sufficient funds to promote and develop industrial opportunities in their districts.

No B.C. city has its own industrial commissioner at the present time, according to the CMA chairman.

ANNUAL REPORT
Mr. McDowell in his annual report also asked the B.C. government to exempt from provincial sales tax all materials used for erection of or additions to manufacturing premises and on all machinery and equipment purchased for use in manufacturing plants.

Another suggestion is an amendment to the Municipal Act to allow municipalities to adopt an incentive taxation system for the first years of an industry's tenancy in new premises.

This he considered a "must" if B.C. is to compete on an equal footing with other provinces offering reduced taxes, special prices on industrial property and other aids.

In Victoria, and some other B.C. cities, the granting of incentives to new industry has been abandoned almost totally for a number of years.

The main criticism against such concessions was largely that subsidies were unfair to existing industries in the district.

EXTRA FROM GM
General Motors Monday evening announced it would pay an extra dividend of 50 cents in addition to the usual quarterly dividend of 50 cents. The dividend will be paid in July.

B.C. GOES TO U.S.

The B.C. government is believed to have broken new ground in provincial financing by making its latest borrowing for schools its latest borrowing for schools.

The B.C. School Districts Capital Finance Authority has sold $5,000,000 (U.S.) 20-year, five per cent serial debentures (1964-1983) at 100.25 at a cost to the authority of 4.93 per cent.

The authority called for bids either in U.S. funds with a five per cent coupon or in Canadian funds with 5 1/4 per cent coupon. The winning bid was in U.S.

funds and was made by a syndicate composed of Bell, Gouinlock, Toronto; Mills Spence, Toronto; and Odium Brown, Vancouver.

Finance Minister Gordon said the financing in U.S. funds would save the authority about 1/2 a point. It was the first offering by the authority, created at the last legislature.

MAYFAIR STORES FELL

Twenty of the 25 smaller stores in the new Mayfair shopping centre, representing 90 per cent of all the rental space, have been let, according to W. Phil Webb, manager of the industrial division of Grosvenor Laing (B.C.) Ltd., builders of the project.

A number of newly-formed local companies have taken space in the centre, which is to open mid-October.

NEW SAVINGS BONDS

A third issue of Manitoba savings bonds is to be issued this month, it has been announced by Premier Duff Roblin.

OIL FLOW HIGHER

Daily deliveries of crude oil by Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Co. in April averaged 196,700 barrels, compared with 177,815 barrels a year ago. Deliveries averaging 208,000 barrels a day are expected in May.

COMPRESSOR PLANNED

Westcoast Transmission Co. is to build the fifth compressor station on its main natural gas line between Taylor and Vancouver. To cost $3,500,000 and developing 8,000 horsepower, the new station will be built this summer by Marwell Construction near Chetwynd in the Pine Pass area of B.C. It will be installed by November to meet the anticipated extra demands for Westcoast natural gas next winter.

PROFIT INCREASED

Consolidated Building Corp. of Toronto, which controls through a subsidiary the Christie Point garden court development on Portage Inlet, reports it made a net profit of $1,806,649 (90 cents a share) in 1962, against $1,430,336 (40 cents) in 1961.

MOVES INTO U.S.

Clairtone Sound Corp. of Rexdale, Ont., which in 1962 took 28 per cent of the Canadian stereophonic sound market, has moved into the U.S. with a fully-owned subsidiary, Clairtone Electronic Corp. Inc., with headquarters in New York.

In 1958 Clairtone started operations making 10 sets a week; in 1962 its sales were worth $8,750,000, of which $2,750,000 were in U.S.

TO APPEASE QUEBEC?

The CNR and its ebullient chief, Donald Gordon, appear to be making an attempt to placate Quebec by the appointment of Maurice Archer of Montreal as vice-president of the railway.

Mr. Archer, who is carefully explained by the ministry of transport, is "fully bilingual and received his education and training in Quebec."

Mr. Archer, an engineer, will be in charge of CNR's research and development.

Mr. Gordon sparked a lot of indignation in Quebec—including the burning of his effigy—following a statement made last year that there were few French Canadians in the top echelon of CNR because they were not sufficiently qualified.

Lending Rate Cut Again By Bank of Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Reduction of the Bank of Canada's lending rate to 3 1/2 per cent from four per cent was announced Monday night.

It was the fourth cut since the rate was fixed at six per cent last June as part of the former government's austerity program to meet a foreign exchange emergency. Prior to the June move the bank rate was a floating one based on long-term money demand.

Bank Governor Louis Rasminsky said in making the announcement Monday that "during the past six months there has been an improvement in Canada's balance of international payments." He added that the exchange reserve position had developed in a "satisfactory way."

Mr. Rasminsky said the reduction in the rate were intended to "encourage credit conditions that facilitate sound domestic economic expansion."

A low bank rate tends to ease the money supply and makes credit easier to obtain.

Tourist Record Again?

First hint that B.C. may indeed be faced with a record tourist year came yesterday with word that April inquiries to the provincial travel bureau ran substantially ahead of the previous all-time high for that month.

The bureau reported 15,985 inquiries of which nearly 50 per cent came from California where B.C. this year launched a record tourist promotion program.

Aim of the province and the tourist industry is to surpass last year's record influx of U.S. visitors which was thought to have been strongly influenced by the Century 21 world fair in Seattle.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood said yesterday that "interest in British Columbia stems mostly from the recent departmental goodwill tour of California and the heaviest advertising campaign in the bureau's history." U.S.-B.C. border crossings for the first quarter of this year bolster the forecast for a bumper year. The January-March period showed a 12.8 per cent increase over last year and in March alone the margin was a substantial 21.6 per cent.

RCMP Mum About Spy Probe

OTTAWA (UPI)—RCMP Commissioner C. W. Harrison Monday declined comment on a New York newspaper report the force is probing the backgrounds of two Russians, involved in a fatal accident here last week, to learn whether they were involved in spying.

Leonid Chelernyksen, 31, an electrical engineer employed at the Russian embassy, was charged with impaired driving after his car smashed into a bridge Friday. Vladimir Chelernyksen, 33, a Russian exchange student with the National Research Council, was killed.

Peace Chance 'Very Slim' Says Phouma

VIENTIANE (AP)—Declaring the chances for keeping the peace in Laos "are very slim," neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said Monday he has no confidence in the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

Even as he spoke up against his partners in the uneasy coalition, the Pathet Lao threatened to launch another drive similar to the one a year ago that forced the United States to rush troops to nearby Thailand.

Souvanna returned discouraged from truce talks Saturday night with his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, head of the Pathet Lao. Not only did the Pathet Lao hand him a stiff set of demands, it shot up two International Control Commission helicopters in the Plain des Jarres area, scene of the negotiations.

Canada is a member of the commission, along with India and Poland.

Around Town

Tourist Trek Starts

B.C.'s 26-member "Know Your Western Neighbor" tourist promotion party flew into Winnipeg Monday on a CPA charter flight to be engulfed by Western hospitality.

Mayor Stephen Juba met the party at the airport and received a Cowichan Indian sweater from Reeve Donald Morton of North Cowichan, on behalf of B.C. The party is on a one-week, six-city tourist promotion trip through the Prairies. Victoria contingent includes R. F. Gadsby.

Nanaimo council last night endorsed a recommendation of municipal board of health calling for construction of the second phase of the Willow-McBrien sewer area as a local improvement project. Council also approved the 1963 sidewalk paving project of $35,000.

Second Fort Victoria (Fairfield) Cubs and Scouts are holding a bottle drive tonight, Wednesday and Thursday.

Residents of the district bounded by Cook, Rockland, Quamichan, Foul Bay Road, Hollywood and Dallas are asked to put out beverage bottles and Kersey-peanut butter jars.

The Silver Threads Service is sponsoring a spring festival of arts and handicrafts made by the senior citizens of Victoria at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Kirk Hall, 600 Courtney Street.

There is still room for a few more people at Wednesday night's testimonial dinner for former Olympic coach Archie McKinnon at 6:30 p.m. at the Empress Hotel. Tickets are being sold at the YMCA.

Second boat across the finish line was Mermade from Galiano Island, and third was Cherokee, the Saanich Indian reserve canoe skippered by Tommy Sampson. The race marked the climax of two days' activities which began Saturday with Indian dances and salmon barbecues over open fires.

Lake Holdings

Saanich Feels Spurned

By JACK FRY

City council probably will sell its Elk-Beaver Lake holdings to the Greater Victoria water board when city needs money, Coun. Joseph Casey charged last night.

He said during a Saanich council discussion on the future use of the city-owned property that the city has a 4-to-3 voting majority on the water board and would sell the holdings to the board "when it gets into financial difficulty."

ACROSS STREET

"Do you mean to say that the city will say, 'Let's sell it to the water board,' then go across the street and say, 'Let's buy it from the city?'" asked Coun. Leslie Pasamore.

"They don't even meet in the water board office. They meet in the mayor's office," replied Coun. Casey.

OFFER REFUSED

Council felt that its offer to purchase the property at a reasonable price, dedicate it as a park, develop and maintain it for the use of residents of all of Greater Victoria, had been rebuffed by the city fathers.

Saanich's offer, sent to the city clerk to be given to city council, was answered by the city's waterworks committee, which submitted an appraisal of $3,272,000 for the Elk-Beaver Lake properties.

NOT GETTING ANYWHERE

"I don't think we are going to get anywhere, it is just another case of a proposal brought forward by the municipality of Saanich being turned down, like the golf course and the sanitation scheme," said Coun. Pasamore.

"The only good thing from it (the waterworks reply) is it shows amalgamators what would happen if we gave up our autonomy."

"Hear, hear," said Coun. Casey.

Council received the letter and ordered it filed, leaving the issue unfinished.

Compost Heaps Attracting Rats

What is a problem especially prevalent in Oak Bay, Greater Victoria's garden-studded residential area?

Rats.

Oak Bay council, sitting as the Oak Bay Board of Health, was told last night by Elwood Gropp, chief sanitary inspector of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health, that the compost heaps kept by Oak Bay residents for their gardens, provide an especial attraction for rodents.

He said the problem is made worse when householders put "kitchen refuse" (garbage) on their compost heaps.

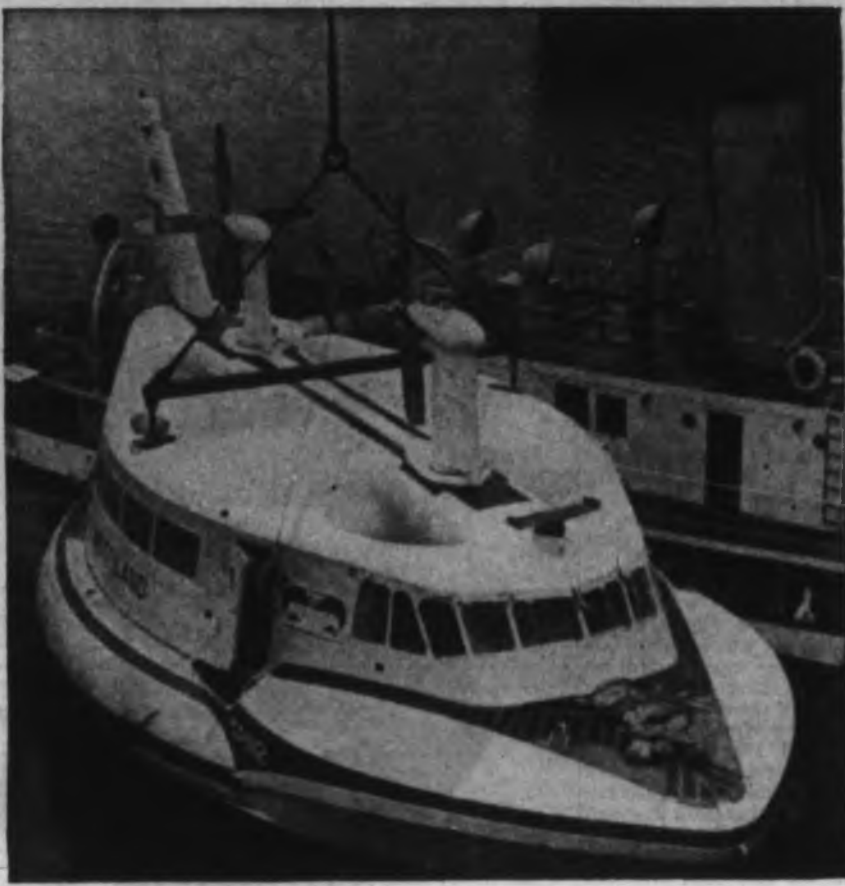

Council voted to include in the municipality's next water bill a note asking Oak Bay residents not to put garbage on their compost heaps.

WARY APPROACH

Council, in its regular session, took a wary approach to a question from the Greater Victoria Intermunicipal Committee whether Oak Bay wanted to discuss an overall Greater Victoria project for Canada's 1967 centennial.

Council voted to set up a committee to investigate, before any discussions with other municipalities, possibilities for an Oak Bay-only project.

Coun. J. D. Watts said he

Playmates Sought

A Playboy photographer who is looking for pretty girls will be ogling Victoria beauties within 2½ weeks.

Mario Castelli said in Vancouver last night he is on the lookout for pretty girls for a general photo feature in Playboy magazine on Canadian girls and very pretty girls who might one day fill the "playmate" centrefold of the magazine.

Mr. Castelli hopes Canada's west coast will provide the magazine with better beauties than the east has done, so far. "I understand the layout is weak on the east coast."

Sunday he interviewed 30 girls in Vancouver.

"My success hinges on how co-operative the town (Victoria) is," he said.

"Usually, 50 per cent of the people are for us, and 50 per cent are against us. I don't want to con anybody in; after all, everybody knows what Playboy is after, so the girls shouldn't pretend to be shocked when..."

First Since Vote

Empress Hotel Talks Resume Wednesday

The first union-management meeting in the Empress Hotel labor dispute since employees voted overwhelmingly to authorize strike action are scheduled to begin Wednesday.

A union announcement said meetings will involve top-ranking union and Canadian Pacific Hotel officers and Victoria conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin.

It is expected the union—Local 276, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC)—will be represented by union general chairman J. R. Grealy of Ottawa.

The company is expected to be represented by Lloyd Jacobson, CPR personnel officer, Montreal.

Negotiations began in January, 1962.

Shelter Denied

An application by Mother Cecilia Mary for rezoning to permit construction of an animal shelter at 3575 West Saanich Road was rejected last night by Saanich council.

Coun. Joseph Casey said that a lot of dogs there would interfere with the operation of an established milk ranch nearby.

Sinclair Speaker

Lloyd Sinclair will speak on the Saanich summer playground program and will show handicrafts and materials used at a meeting of the Doncaster PTA in the school auditorium Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Water Problems

The Prospect Lake domestic water supply and contamination problems were dumped back into Saanich's lap Monday by the provincial pollution control board.

The question of whether the municipality or the provincial government has jurisdiction over septic tank and building permit control at the lake came up Jan. 1, 1963, when the board was given sweeping control over sewage outfalls.

It is understood a number of applications piled up while officialdom sorted out the red tape surrounding the first test cases, from Prospect Lake.

LESS THAN 5,000

A copy of the letter from the board to one of the Prospect Lake applicants, received last night by council, said it is not necessary for a person discharging less than 5,000 gallons of domestic sewage effluent per day to obtain a permit from the board.

"This means the regulatory authority remains the same as it was before Jan. 1, 1963, namely the District of Saanich," the letter stated.

Still unanswered is the question of whether the water in Prospect Lake is contaminated dangerously by septic tank effluent.

SYSTEM BLOCKED

Council also decided to inform the board it has not given up its fight against a ruling which blocked a sewage disposal system for the Colquitz Creek basin.

It will notify the board it reserves the right to appeal the decision to Health Minister Martin and will ask what standards will be required before the board approves an application.

Pickets At Meat Market First Time in 25 Years

First strike in 25 years against a B.C. meat market is scheduled to start at 6 a.m. today when picket lines will appear in front of the Alberta Meat Market at 1811 Cook.

"In addition we charge owner John Williams with discrimination against five employees whom he fired May 3," said George Johnston, Vancouver-based secretary-manager of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' Union, Local 212, last night.

"Those five, out of 13 employees, were the most vocal union members," Mr. Johnston charged.

DISCRIMINATION DENIED

Mr. Williams rejected the charges.

"There was no discrimination. I don't even know which of my employees is most active in the union," he told the Colonist.

The vote was taken May 1 with 12 employees attending and voting 8 to 4 in favor of striking after negotiations broke down, Mr. Johnston said.

Action came after mediating efforts of Victoria Labor Council conciliation officer William McLaughlin failed, he added.

18-MONTH TALKS

He said negotiations with the retail meat industry had been going on for 18 months and the majority had agreed to the settlement.

Mr. McLaughlin recommended the market accept the area agreement, Mr. Johnston said.

The agreement calls for a 30-month contract from Nov. 1, 1961, to May 1, 1964, and includes a 15-cent wage increase and an industry-wide, portable, employer-paid pension plan based on a 10-cent an hour contribution to the plan for every hour worked.

DISCREPANCY WORSE

"We are the only independent meat market who belongs to the union," said Mr. Williams. "Our competitors don't."

The discrepancy in wage rates has got worse and worse, and we cannot meet the increase."

As to the firing of five employees, Mr. Williams said "we were overstaffed and have to curtail our operations. I gave them considerable warning."

Four-Mill Tax Boost Approved in Oak Bay

By HARVEY SHEPHERD

Oak Bay council last night brought down a budget calling for a tax increase of four mills.

The increase, which raises the tax rate to 44.5 mills, means taxes on property with a market value of $13,600—considered a median value in Oak Bay—will go up $21.76, or $1.76 more than the $20 increase this year in the B.C. government grant to home-owners.

The four-mill increase is made up of a 1.3-mill increase to 19.3 mills for schools plus a 2.7-mill increase for general purposes and debt charges. General purposes account for 22.16 mills and debt for 3.04 mills in the tax rate.

The $2,138,983 budget, which was brought down without comment at the council meeting, anticipates revenue of $1,750,539 from taxation. Contributions and grants, including a B.C. government per-capita grant of $181,480, account for a further $282,260.

EDUCATION FIRST

Following education costs of $716,128, highest expenditure item is protection to persons and property at $369,959.

Other items are debt charges, $202,811; contributions to general capital and loan fund, $183,195; public works, $146,629; sanitation and waste removal, $131,503; general government, $122,711; social welfare, $60,903; miscellaneous, $49,639; health, $33,275, and utility levies, $22,975.

'UNCONTROLLABLE'

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch said after the council meeting the 2.7-mill increase in the municipality's share of taxation is mostly accounted for by increases in "uncontrollable items" in the budget.

He cited wage increases and increases in Oak Bay's contribution to such items as the Victoria library, the Greater Victoria juvenile and family court and the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board.

Willows Beach

Curb Asked On Parties

Beatings and wild parties go on late summer nights on Willows Beach without the knowledge of Oak Bay citizens, it was charged at an Oak Bay council meeting last night.

Speaking in support of a petition signed by 47 residents and property owners fronting on the Esplanade, Terence Farmer, 2820 Beach, said the Esplanade-Willows Beach area is "a slum area in our municipality in the early hours of the morning."

He said Oak Bay police are "doing all they can," but Oak Bay citizens do not know what is going on because Oak Bay police records are kept confidential.

Mr. Farmer said the culprits are young "hoodlums" from outside Oak Bay.

The petitions called for measures to eliminate tire and exhaust noises by youths speeding along the Esplanade. The petition was referred to council's traffic and transportation committee.

Mortgage Heights? Not Here

Saanich Peninsula and Greater Victoria cannot be considered a "Mortgage Heights" region.

Nearly half of the 30,003 single family dwellings between Victoria and Sidney do not have any mortgages, according to information received from Ottawa yesterday by Capital Region Planning Board director Anthony Roberts.

Greater Victoria has the third highest percentage of mortgage-free home of 17 metropolitan areas in Canada, the highest being St. John, N.B., and St. John's, Nfld.

Water Problems Return to Saanich

The Prospect Lake domestic water supply and contamination problems were dumped back into Saanich's lap Monday by the provincial pollution control board.

The question of whether the municipality or the provincial government has jurisdiction over septic tank and building permit control at the lake came up Jan. 1, 1963, when the board

Oak Bay Switches, Insists On Stringent Conditions

Marine Gardens Allowed

Installation of an underwater marine gardens at the Oak Bay Marina was approved last night by Oak Bay council which at its previous meeting had rejected the proposal.

Council unanimously voted to approve the proposal on several stringent conditions—biggest of which is that council will have the unqualified right to kick the gardens out at the end of any calendar year.

Coun. Allan Cox, previously the most vocal opponent of the scheme, said the clause provides sufficient protection for the municipality in case it turns out the gardens bring about parking problems or interfere with the purposes for which the marina's operators got a municipal charter a year ago to run the marina.

Potential parking problems and interference with the boating and recreation purposes originally intended for the marina had been Coun. Cox's main original objections.

In the planned $150,000 underwater gardens, visitors would descend to an underwater chamber where they would look through windows at sea life in roughly its natural habitat.

Conditions offered in a letter received last night from marina president Robert Wright, and accepted by council, provide:

● There will be a two-year sublease by the marina to Saltire Products Ltd., which will run the gardens, and five-year renewals.

● The approach and entrance to the gardens will be from land, not from any part of the marina docks. This will give virtual segregation of customers of the gardens from those using the docks and other marina facilities.

● Any sign identifying the gardens must receive the approval of council and must be similar to park signs.

● The decor of the gardens' above-water installation must similarly be approved by council before construction.

● The sub-lease will be subject to cancellation at the end of any calendar year at the request and sole discretion of Oak Bay council.

Council last night received 11 letters in favor of the proposed gardens, other than those from the marina and Saltire Products.

Included were letters from the Oak Bay Ratepayers' Association, the Oak Bay Board of Trade, Dr. Clifford Carl of the provincial museum and C. J. Gulguet, also of the museum.

Four letters opposing the marina were received.

Thrilling Moments As Ships Pass in Vancouver Harbor

By DOROTHY WROTONSKI and JULIE CLARK

"Ships that pass in the night" is generally known to have a romantic meaning but ships that pass in the day is another thing. It is downright exciting.

As guests aboard the Oronsay on Sunday afternoon when she passed the Arcadia in the inner harbor at Vancouver, we can tell you.

After crossing the gulf in sunshine all the way, escaping the showers, the Oronsay steamed under the First Narrows bridge into a brisk wind.

The gleaming white Arcadia had just left her berth and was heading out of the harbor.

As the two giant P&O liners steamed toward each other excitement started to mount among the passengers and the thousands of persons in Stanley Park and along the north shore.

Even veteran news and TV men felt the drama of the event and there was cheering and waving from their vantage point in the "monkey house."

And a helicopter whirled above with cameras recording this terrific feat of navigation.

Up on the bridge with the group and as excited as the rest of the crew was Alix Wood, the only woman liaison officer with the P&O at the present time. In fact, she is only the second of her sex ever to hold this position with the line.

How does a woman go about getting a position of this type, we wanted to know, so we asked her.

In her case, it went this way. Alix, who calls Aberdeen, Scotland, home has a degree in dietetics (home economics in Canada).

TO SEE THE WORLD She was teaching her profession when her wish to see the world took the form of answering an advertisement for a children's hostess with the P&O. Out of great number of applicants she landed the job.

After acting as children's hostess for several years from 1952, Alix decided to "go ashore." Eighteen months later

There was no mention of replacing her after the second trip, so she has been acting in this capacity since 1957.

Until this trip Alix worked on her own without the aid of a hostess.

WOULDN'T SWAP All the sports and entertainment programs aboard the ship come under Alix's surveillance.

It has been a fascinating experience and I wouldn't have swapped for any other job," she says, adding, "I've just been plain lucky."

Maybe luck has played a part, but the capabilities of this level-eyed person are more likely to have ensured her the job.

Among excited passengers leaning over the rail to get a better view of the ship's entry into the harbor was Jann Grier, a young Australian who has come to make her home in Canada.

Jann, a former British Empire Games swimmer, crossed to Victoria yesterday to visit with friends. Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Mercer, at their Beach Drive home. She then hopes to work in Vancouver, a city which she fondly remembers from 1954 when she was the youngest member on the Australian swimming team of the British Empire Games. In fact she was the youngest person ever to represent Australia, at that time.

FOURTH AT 14 Jann, who was then 14, came in fourth in the 220 yards breaststroke.

"I wasn't allowed very much freedom on that trip," she says. "They treated me like a real baby. I suppose they felt responsible."

However, Jann must have been impressed by the little she did see of Vancouver. In order to bring her back as an immigrant.

"I was getting in a rut back home, and after working in Sydney three years I decided to get out and make a new life for myself."

Now she says she will return to Australia only for a visit.

SERIOUS INJURY Following a serious injury, which resulted in the removal of her kneecap, Jann had to give up serious swimming.

Asked if she would ever go back to the life of a champion swimmer, she says, "I don't think I could go through all that training again. No parties or relaxing. You just eat, sleep and train."

To teach swimming is Jann's main ambition, but she is a trained accounting machine operator, a skill she can always turn to.

Jann is not the only member of her family who is an expert swimmer. Her mother represented Australia at the 1928

Olympics and her father was at the Pan Pacific Games of 1927, in Japan. At present, Jann's sister is Queensland and Australian junior champion.

Of her 17 days aboard, she says, "I would just like to keep on sailing." And she was quite content to swim around in circles in the ship's pools, which are considerably smaller than those she is used to.

TEA TODAY The Icelandic Club will hold its annual spring tea and sale today, May 7, in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Pink Roses In Bouquet

St. Alban's Anglican church was the scene of the recent marriage of Lynne Valerie Comb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Comb, Vista Heights, and Mr. John Edward Wormald, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wormald, Shesbourne Street. Rev. F. W. Hayes officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride chose a ballerina length gown of white nylon lace. The full skirted gown was topped with a dainty lace jacket. Her lace-trimmed net veil and pink rose bouquet completed the outfit.

Mr. Bob Wormald was best man and Mr. John Farmer and Mr. Barry Lee ushered guests. Following a reception, at which A. Cormons proposed the toast, the bride and groom left on a honeymoon in Oregon. The new Mrs. Wormald chose a three-piece red and white knit suit with black diamond necklace and earrings. On their return the newlyweds will make their home at 802 Hillside Avenue.

Diane Badley Bride Of C. W. Johnson

Baskets of stephanotis were at the altar of St. Alden's United Church for the recent marriage of Dianne Badley, and Mr. Clifford W. Johnson, Rev. A. G. MacLeod officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Badley, Victoria, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Johnson, of Riverton, Man.

The lovely, dark-haired bride was given away by her father at the double ring ceremony. She chose an exquisite white floor-length gown of pure silk faille. The basque bodice featured bracelet length sleeves and the scoop neckline was trimmed with Gimp lace. Lace appliques touched the belted skirt and a large back bow swept to a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a self fabric rose. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley. Her cultured pearl necklace and earrings were the gift of the groom.

Mrs. R. Bertleson, matron of honor and Miss Linda Slocombe, bridesmaid, chose identical gowns of crushed rose nylon over taffeta with matching headpiece. They carried rose carnations and stephanotis.

Mr. David Wise was best man and Mr. W. Ross and Mr. Gordon MacDonald were ushers. A miniature bride and groom topped the wedding at reception, held in Holyrood House. Pink gladioli and stephanotis flanked the fireplace where the wedding party received guests. Mr. Dean V. Atkinson proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving on a honeymoon to Vancouver and the interior, the bride changed to an original navy silk ensemble. Her accessories were white and she wore a white orchid corsage. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home at Garden Park Court, Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Bicknell On Hawaiian Honeymoon

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jolly, Victoria, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bicknell, of Chilliwack. Rev. Canon R. Willis officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride chose a picturesque gown of white nylon tulle over taffeta. Embroidered lace, scattered with mother-of-pearl sequins, bordered the scoop neckline. The flared skirt was caught with large tulle rose. A bow at the back accented the waistline. Her illusion veil cascaded from a rhinestone coronet and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Joy Bicknell, maid of honor, and bridesmaid, Miss Sheila Longman, were in pale blue taffeta dresses with an overlay of nylon net. They carried pink roses. Lynne Jolly and Sandra Bicknell, sisters of the bride and groom, were flower girls. They were dressed in nylon frocks of blue pink with smocked bodices. Yellow flowers were in their basket and headbands.

Mr. Malcolm E. Jolly was best man and Mr. Richard A. Jolly was usher. Following a reception at the Old England Inn, Mr. and Mrs. Bicknell left on a cruise to Hawaii. # ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 and already my life is messed up. Ted and I went steady for six months and we began to do things we had no right to do. I became pregnant.

We both quit school and got married right away. My folks thought it would be best if we moved out of town, so we did.

I hate my life and what I have done to Ted. The baby cries all the time and gets on Ted's nerves. He drinks too much and I can't blame him. We live in a dump and there is no money for strollers or movies or decent clothes. Ted never says anything but I know he must hate me because I got him into this. I'm afraid he hates the baby, too. He never holds her or pays attention to her.

There are times when I think this is all a bad dream and I'll wake up at home in my own bed, and get dressed and go to school with the kids I liked so much. But I know too well that those days are over for me and I am stuck.

I'm not writing for advice. It's too late for that. I'm just writing in hopes you will print this letter, for the benefit of other teenagers who think they know it all—like I did. — WRECKED AT 17.

Dear Wrecked at 17: I hope your letter shakes up the teenagers who are behaving as you and Ted did during your dating days. The only difference between them and you is they have been luckier. So far.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife has been nagging me for the past two months that this summer we must fill our swimming pool with dirt so she can have peace of mind.

Last summer our neighbor lost a 4-year-old boy in a swimming pool accident. The pool belonged to a friend in another city and my wife hasn't been there since. She keeps telling me she is sure one of our three will meet with the same fate if we don't fill up the pool.

Our kids enjoy the pool and the two older ones are fairly good swimmers. The youngest is learning. Please tell me what you think of this. If I am wrong

I wish you'd say so.—MR. YAK

Dear Mr. Yak: The sensible approach is to make sure all the children are good swimmers and see to it that they follow the rules.

Insist that they swim in pairs and make sure an adult is within calling distance at all times. It would be a shame to fill in the pool and deprive your children of the fun of swimming at home when a few simple rules could insure safety.

Scots Honor Tree Expert

Garden for Douglas

By BRUCE COLEGRAVE

David Douglas, who gave his name to the stately fir trees of B.C., will have his name perpetuated further with a commemorative garden in Scotland, planted exclusively with trees and plants he introduced to Europe.

Douglas was a gardener at the botanical gardens in Glasgow before coming to B.C. in 1825 as collector for the Royal Horticultural Society.

He travelled extensively in B.C. and later introduced to Europe many trees and plants from this area.

He was born in Scone, Perthshire, Scotland, where a stone memorial had commemorated his birthplace until a short time ago and was almost beyond repair.

MOST SUCCESSFUL

The directorate of the Royal Horticultural Society of Perthshire felt a garden planted exclusively with plants and trees introduced to Europe through the endeavors of David Douglas would be an appropriate living memorial to one of the greatest and most successful of plant collectors.

At the same time it would be of value to botanical students, and forestry and gardening enthusiasts.

CASTLE GROUNDS

The garden is under construction in the old Balhousie Castle grounds adjacent to the North Inch.

Victorian Chosen For Banff

Victoria High School student Bruce Kelly has been awarded a $300 French scholarship which will entitle him to study at Banff School of Fine Arts during the summer.

To qualify he took oral and written French examinations Saturday. The scholarship was raised between students from five Greater Victoria High schools.

Bruce will study under expert tutors at the French chateau during the summer months. The scholarship goes for tuition fees and accommodation.

Runner-up in the exams was Terry Poisson, another Victoria High School student, who was awarded a book prize.

Officers Elected

Officers elected at the annual congregational meeting of the First Church of the Nazarene on Wednesday included Mrs. I. Cunningham, Sunday School superintendent; Mrs. J. Love, missionary president, and Miss Mabel Hanney, young people's president.

It is intended at least one seat of Douglas fir timber will be installed in the garden on which a bronze plaque will be attached.

Greeks, Turks Fight in Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Street clashes occurred Friday among 400 Greek and Turkish Cypriots in Paphos, Western Cyprus. Police restored order. Police said crowds gathered after an argument broke out between Turkish Cypriots and a Greek Cypriot officer of the Cyprus army.

The plaque will record the wording on the original memorial in Scone Old Parish Churchyard.

The Victoria Horticultural Society received a letter from Lord Elphinstone, president of the Royal Horticultural Society of Perthshire, requesting aid in this project.

The request was to send plants of the species introduced to Europe by Douglas.

Some time after the request was received, the Royal Horticultural Society of Perthshire sent word they had found in England sufficient plants and trees of the species required.

Red Police Prevent Appeal to U Thant

BUCHAREST (Reuters)—Romanian plainclothesmen Monday dragged away a man who tried vainly to speak to UN Secretary-General U Thant during his official visit.

The man shouted in Romanian: "Comrade U Thant" and seemed to be trying to pull a paper from his pocket, when two security men grabbed him.

News from Abroad 'Foreign' to Canada

Canadian newspaper readers are on the receiving end of a barrage of news and views composed by foreign journalists for foreign consumption. The Victoria men's and women's Canadian Clubs were told yesterday.

UBC English professor, TV personality and ex-newsman Arnold Edinborough deplored the dearth of Canadian foreign correspondents writing for Canadian newspapers and said most international news and analyses comes from English and U.S. sources.

CBC PRAISED

His talk, The press and the nation, lamented the lack of a national press in Canada as an instrument of cultural cohesion.

But, he added, "thank God for the CBC."

"If Canada is held together by anything it is by the CBC."

The nightly CBC newscast was "the only real link we have from coast to coast."

ELECTION CAMPAIGNS

Canadian newspapers did a good job of local news coverage, a spotty job of national coverage except during election campaigns and sessions of parliament, and a spottier job of international affairs.

The Canadian Press news service, he stated, source of much foreign news contained in Canadian newspapers, does not maintain a single foreign correspondent. It had foreign news bureaus which simply rewrite the output of foreign journalists.

Haiti Runs to UN

Bosch Asks Aid of OAS

SANTO Domingo (UPI)—Dominican President Juan Bosch bolstered his invasion forces along the Haitian border last night but called on the Organization of American States to step into the crisis on the island of Hispaniola.

The Haitians countered by demanding an immediate session of the United Nations Security Council to consider charges of "planned aggression" by the Dominican Republic.

Peace Parley

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)—A bilateral committee was convened Monday night in an effort to bring about a settlement of month-long racial demonstrations. Burke Marshall, assistant U.S. attorney-general in charge of civil rights, sat in on the meeting.

Negroes Fill Jails

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Hundreds of Negroes shipped school Monday and followed Negro comedian Dick Gregory to jail in a series of marches protesting racial segregation.

An estimated 1,000 were arrested. A jailer, who made the estimate, said 90 per cent were two-agers.

ALMOST 2,000

With the latest mass demonstration, total arrests during the last five days of racial unrest soared to almost 2,000. Most of the Negroes have chosen to stay in custody, filling up local jails.

The Negroes, holding placards decrying segregation, marched in two from a church to a waiting line of policemen about a block away, although some groups took other routes.

SOME CHILDREN

There were at least 18 waves of demonstrators, including some small children.

Shuttled into school buses, their placards taken away, the Negroes waved, laughed and sang freedom songs as they rode off to city jail. Approximately 2,000 Negroes watched and cheered from street corners and sidewalks.

There was no serious disorder.

WON'T STOP

"This is a spontaneous celebration for the victory at the jail," said Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, Birmingham Negro leader.

"We succeeded in filling the jails. Our demonstrations will continue. We are not going to stop."

Americans Defect In Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—The U.S. army announced Monday night a captain and a sergeant were missing. The East German news agency ADN said they were in East Germany and had asked for political asylum.

The army identified the missing officer as Capt. Alfred Svensson, 36, of Scranton, Pa. He crossed into East Germany from West Germany in an army jeep Saturday.

The sergeant in Benjamin Cain, 34, of Frederica, Del. A Berlin supply sergeant, he had been missing since Friday.

Explosive Situation

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—A truck-trailer loaded with potentially poisonous fuel for Titan missiles overturned north of the main business district Monday, and authorities prepared to evacuate a wide area during a precarious recovery operation.

None of the 18 tons of nitrogen tri-oxide—a propellant for the Titan missiles ringing Tucson—had leaked from the truck by late last night.

'It Happened So Quickly'

"It happened so quickly we were all shaken up," a Ganges man told the Colonist last night in a telephone interview from Edmonton after he had been injured yesterday in a TCA Vanguard on a flight between Victoria and Edmonton.

"There was no time to fasten my seat belt. I hit the ceiling when the plane just dropped down. I was stunned, and another fellow fell on top of me," said C. J. Marcotte, employee of the forestry department.

"They took X-rays of my back in the (Royal Alexandra) hospital and it showed up badly bruised," he said from his Macdonald Hotel room minutes before taking a taxi to the airport to continue his flight to Saskatoon where he will visit his ailing father.

"There was no time to be frightened because it happened so quickly. It seemed everybody was on the floor, including the stewardesses.

The fellow who died—L. M.

Schmidt of Cadwath, Sask.—was in the compartment behind me. He died in the plane."

Mrs. Laura Knight, 75, of 3700 Blenheim, was making her first flight and was interviewed in Edmonton.

"I had my seat belt on," she said. It was a terrific jolt, but I wasn't hurt."

She said she would continue her flight east but may decide on train or bus for the return trip to Victoria.

S. G. Mooney, TCA district sales manager in Victoria, who was on the same flight and was injured, declined to be interviewed by the Colonist after he had been examined at Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Mrs. Laura Knight, 75, of Victoria, made her first flight Monday and it was rough one. She was aboard Trans-Canada Air Lines plane which ran into severe turbulence over Rockies. One passenger died and 25

injured. Helping her into car at Edmonton is stepson C. J. Nisbet of London, England, who was also aboard turbulent flight.—(CP Photo-fax)

ONE DEAD, 25 INJURED

EDMONTON (CP)—An elderly passenger was killed and 25 persons, including a Victoria man, were injured Monday when a Trans-Canada Air Lines Vanguard hit violent air over the Rocky Mountains on a flight from Vancouver to Edmonton.

A TCA spokesman said all except four of the injured were released from hospital after a medical check.

BELTN UNFASTENED

A passenger said the plane dropped suddenly, perhaps 800 feet. Some passengers had not fastened their seat belts.

The turbo-prop plane, Flight 502 bound for Ottawa, carried 71 persons.

Killed was L. M. Schmidt, 77, an elderly passenger from Cadwath, Sask. He was a retired storekeeper and was returning from his sister's wedding anniversary. Cause of death was not immediately known.

In hospital were: Stanton Mooney, district sales manager from Victoria; Lee Davis of San Jose, Calif.; Mrs. Marion Klemmer of Rosetown, Sask.; and Mrs. Walter Wood of Biggar, Sask. University Hospital said none was in serious condition.

SHAMBLES IN PLANE

A TCA official said the interior of the aircraft was a shambles. Some seats were out of place. Newspapers, blankets and other items were scattered. Reporters were not permitted inside the plane.

The four-engine plane, with a capacity of 109 passengers, suffered "no apparent structural damage," TCA said but it was grounded for a thorough examination.

FOUR AMBULANCES

Four ambulances were at Edmonton's International Airport, 14 miles south of the city, when the plane landed almost on schedule.

The aircraft ran into severe air turbulence at 21,000 feet 50 miles west of Rocky Mountain House, Alta., about 25 minutes' flying time from Edmonton.

The public weather office said rain showers were reported in the Rocky Mountain House area at the time. A forecaster said tops of clouds would have ranged up to 25,000 feet.

The Vancouver - Edmonton flight takes one hour and 30 minutes.

The plane was piloted by Capt. George Smith of Vancouver.

BEIT SIGN ON

TCA said he reported that the seat belt sign had been turned on just prior to the encounter with the turbulent air.

Other members of the crew were D. E. Glendinning, first officer; F. A. Lemolne, purser; and Clarence L. Reader and Pat

Hay River Businessmen Ready to Start Again

PORT SMITH, N.W.T. (CP)—Although some lost everything they had, Hay River businessmen indicated Monday they will take their chances with rebuilding on flood-ravaged Vale Island, 500 miles north of Edmonton.

The river—the thing that's giving us all the trouble—was the reason we were there in the first place," said Don Stewart, a building supply and theatre operator.

RIVER TRAFFIC

Dock facilities for fishing and river traffic were the basic reasons for the town's existence and a major part of the town's revenue, he said.

Vale Island is at the mouth of the Hay River. Hay River, a community of 1,800, was swept by water and ice when the frozen Great Slave Lake held back the heavy spring flow of the north-running river.

Vale Island, on the south shore of Great Slave Lake, is about five miles long and five miles wide. Hay River Settlement, 100 miles northwest of Fort Smith, is spread over more than half the island.

PORT SIMPSON HIT

Fort Simpson, an island community of 700 about 620 miles north of Edmonton at the confluence of the Liard and Mackenzie rivers, also was hit by high water and ice.

More than 1,800 persons were evacuated from both settlements.

Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, who estimated Hay River damage at $1,600,000, said the federal government will decide this week what assistance it will provide for rehabilitation of the two towns.

TO MAKE STUDY

The minister also said that the government will study methods of preventing flooding of Hay River and will look into possible relocation of the community on the mainland.

Mr. Stewart suggested opening of a sub-division on the mainland for people who want to live off the island "but the businessmen can't very well move away from the industry of the fishing and the harbor."

DIKING PREFERABLE

Other businessmen said diking of the river possibly would be preferable to a mass movement to the mainland.

"It happened so quickly we were all shaken up," a Ganges man told the Colonist last night in a telephone interview from Edmonton after he had been injured yesterday in a TCA Vanguard on a flight between Victoria and Edmonton.

"There was no time to fasten my seat belt. I hit the ceiling when the plane just dropped down. I was stunned, and another fellow fell on top of me," said C. J. Marcotte, employee of the forestry department.

"They took X-rays of my back in the (Royal Alexandra) hospital and it showed up badly bruised," he said from his Macdonald Hotel room minutes before taking a taxi to the airport to continue his flight to Saskatoon where he will visit his ailing father.

"There was no time to be frightened because it happened so quickly. It seemed everybody was on the floor, including the stewardesses.

The fellow who died—L. M. Schmidt of Cadwath, Sask.—was in the compartment behind me. He died in the plane."

Mrs. Laura Knight, 75, of 3700 Blenheim, was making her first flight and was interviewed in Edmonton.

"I had my seat belt on," she said. It was a terrific jolt, but I wasn't hurt."

She said she would continue her flight east but may decide on train or bus for the return trip to Victoria.

S. G. Mooney, TCA district sales manager in Victoria, who was on the same flight and was injured, declined to be interviewed by the Colonist after he had been examined at Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Fishboat Explodes, Two Men Injured

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Washington state fishermen were flown to hospital here Monday after their trawler exploded off Port Hardy at the northern tip of Vancouver Island.

Rescue officials said Leonard Croft, 67, of Blaine and Cecil Meachem, 48, of Everett, were the only crew on board the Avis when the engine blew up.

The boat was in a channel waiting out bad weather. Croft and Meachem, burned and injured, scrambled into the sea and were picked up by the U.S. fishboat Barbara Lee, also hove to nearby.

The men were later taken to Port Hardy before being transferred here. Meachem suffered burns to his feet, legs, hands, face and back and a gashed forehead. Croft has a broken ankle, broken jaw and cuts.

Salt Spring Weekly Goes to New Owner

GANGES — Salt Spring Island's unique weekly newspaper, Driftwood, was sold on May 2 to Mrs. Arlene Ward of Ganges by E. V. "Woody" Fisher, the founder.

Driftwood, tabloid-size offset weekly, was established in March 1960 as a mimeograph newsheet, and became a "regular" offset newspaper in October, 1962.

Under the editorship of Mr. Fisher, Driftwood quickly became known as a contentious newspaper and was frequently quoted by other newspapers.

Driftwood was the first newspaper in British Columbia to question the raising of Premier Bennett's B.C. flag on public school flagpoles.

Mr. Fisher is a native of the United States and has been a resident of the Gulf Islands for eight years.

Mrs. Ward, a native of B.C., is the wife of a Ganges school teacher, James Ward.

The new editor has stated that she will attempt to carry on the policies established by Fisher, and will attempt to give Salt Spring Island a bigger and better newspaper as the island grows.

Ferry Wash Causes Injury to American

NANAIMO—Wash from the government ferry Queen of Sidney resulted in a badly smashed knee for an American fisherman in Departure Bay Sunday.

Ralph Perrigoune of Maryland, Ore., tried to fend off another boat from colliding with his commercial fishing boat, Suzie, as the rolling wash from the Sidney swept towards the dock. Both boats were rocked heavily and the fisherman got his leg caught between the vessels.

Mr. Perrigoune lost consciousness as a hull crushed his leg against a trolling pole. The next wave snapped the pole and crossbar.

Harold Jones, owner of the second boat, the Tecora, suffered bruises after being hurled to the deck.

"The Sidney was sure moving as she passed us," commented Mr. Jones.

The Suzie is 43 feet long and the Tecora is 41 feet. Witnesses said when the wash struck one boat was momentarily lifted about four feet above the other.

Mr. Perrigoune is in Nanaimo hospital.

At a recent ratepayers' meeting at Departure Bay members expressed concern at the speed ferries leave the bay, complaining that the wash is a hazard to swimmers and small craft.

condition at the King's Daughters' Hospital.

The accident occurred at his garage when he was checking a car belonging to Norman Mitchell of Duncan.

The vehicle, equipped with an automatic transmission, suddenly jumped ahead when Mr. Mitchell touched the accelerator, pinning Mr. Loisele against another car. The transmission was in "drive," with the emergency brake on.

The scenes of two accidents involving the same Duncan man, Wayne Allen, were the intersection of Trunk Road and Ypres St., and on Government St.

TWO MISHAPS

At the first location, Mr. Allen's car and one driven by Mrs. Ada Werk collided. Shortly after Mr. Allen's car collided with one driven by George Day on Government St.

Fourth accident happened at the intersection of Maple Bay and Indian Roads when Edward Clark failed to negotiate a curve and landed in an adjoining field.

Oak Bay Car Thief Takes Radio, Tapes

A thief stole a radio, tape recorder and two tapes from a car parked in Oak Bay early Sunday.

The goods, valued at $300, were stolen from a car owned by J. H. Pantou, 1720 North Dairy Road.

Union at Harmac Pulp Mill Settled

NANAIMO—A dispute between members of the Pulp and Sulphite Union and the Plumbers and Steamfitters Union at Harmac pulp mill settled down over the weekend.

Several plumbers and steamfitters Saturday walked off the $40,000,000 addition now being built to the main mill.

A labor spokesman said the problem lay in deciding "the shadow line" between ordinary maintenance and new construction.

The angry plumbers and steamfitters claimed the pulp workers were doing work which rightfully belongs in the plumbing and steamfitting field.

Representatives of the two unions got together to iron out their difficulties and mill manager Einar Walloe reported things were back to normal Monday.

Union Dispute Settled At Harmac

NANAIMO—A dispute between members of the Pulp and Sulphite Union and the Plumbers and Steamfitters Union at Harmac pulp mill settled down over the weekend.

Several plumbers and steamfitters Saturday walked off the $40,000,000 addition now being built to the main mill.

A labor spokesman said the problem lay in deciding "the shadow line" between ordinary maintenance and new construction.

The angry plumbers and steamfitters claimed the pulp workers were doing work which rightfully belongs in the plumbing and steamfitting field.

Representatives of the two unions got together to iron out their difficulties and mill manager Einar Walloe reported things were back to normal Monday.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Hundreds of Negroes skipped school Monday and followed Negro comedian Dick Gregory to jail in a series of marches protesting racial segregation.

An estimated 1,000 were arrested. A jailer, who made the estimate, said 90 per cent were teenagers.

ALMOST 2,400
With the latest mass demonstration, total arrests during the last five days of racial unrest soared to almost 2,400.

Most of the Negroes have chosen to stay in custody, filling up local jails.

The Negroes, holding placards decrying segregation, marched in two from a church to a waiting line of policemen about a block away, although some groups took other routes.

SOME CHILDREN
There were at least 18 waves of demonstrators, including some small children.

Shuttled into school buses, their placards taken away, the Negroes waved, laughed and sang freedom songs as they rode off to city jail. Approximately 2,000 Negroes watched and cheered from street corners and sidewalks.

There was no serious disorder.

WON'T STOP
"This is a spontaneous celebration for the victory at the jail," said Rev. F. L. "Shuttlesworth," Birmingham Negro leader.

"We succeeded in filling the jails. Our demonstrations will continue. We are not going to stop."

'It Happened So Quickly'

"It happened so quickly we were all shaken up," a Ganges man told the Colonist last night in a telephone interview from Edmonton after he had been injured yesterday in a TCA Vanguard on a flight between Victoria and Edmonton.

"There was no time to fasten my seat belt. I hit the ceiling when the plane just dropped down. I was stunned, and another fellow fell on top of me," said C. J. Marcotte, employee of the forestry department.

"They took X-rays of my back in the (Royal Alexandra) hospital and it showed up badly bruised," he said from his Macdonald Hotel room minutes before taking a taxi to the airport to continue his flight to Saskatoon where he will visit his ailing father.

"There was no time to be frightened because it happened so quickly. It seemed everybody was on the floor, including the stewardesses."

"The fellow who died—L. M.

Schmidt of Cudworth, Sask.—was in the compartment behind me. He died in the plane."

Mrs. Laura Knight, 75, of 3700 Blenkinsop, was making her first flight and was interviewed in Edmonton.

"I had my seat belt on," she said. It was a terrific jolt, but, I wasn't hurt."

She said she would continue her flight east but may decide on train or bus for the return trip to Victoria.

S. G. Mooney, TCA district sales manager in Victoria, who was on the same flight and was injured, declined to be interviewed by the Colonist after he had been examined at Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Mrs. Laura Knight, 75, of Victoria, made her first flight Monday and it was rough one. She was aboard Trans-Canada Air Lines plane which ran into severe turbulence over Rockies. One passenger died and 25

injured. Helping her into car at Edmonton is stepson C. J. Nisbet of London, England, who was also aboard turbulent flight.—(CP Photo-fax)

Cleric on Abortions:

Let Women Decide

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian law should allow a pregnant woman the option of having an abortion, a United Church minister writes in the latest issue of the United Church Observer.

Rev. Ray Goodall, of New Westminster, B.C., says that a change in the law could "eliminate much of the suffering associated with an unwanted pregnancy."

He said: "She should be allowed to do this in consultation with recognized authorities—her physicians and perhaps the minister or priest."

The official position of the United Church on abortion was stated in 1960: "Christian conscience cannot approve abortion."

However, the church said that if doctors feel the pregnancy endangers the mother's physical or mental health "therapeutic abortion may be necessary."

Mr. Goodall said thousands of women, rather than endure an unwanted pregnancy, either take the matter into their own hands or seek out "some quack" for an exorbitant fee—both with tragic results.

He said always the interests of the mother must take precedence over that which is embryonic and unformed.

FORT SMITH, N.W.T. (CP)—Although some lost everything they had, Hay River businessmen indicated Monday they will take their chances with rebuilding on flood-ravaged Vale Island, 500 miles north of Edmonton.

"The river—the thing that's giving us all the trouble—was the reason we were there in the first place," said Don Stewart, a building supply and theatre operator.

Dock facilities for fishing and river traffic were the basic reasons for the town's existence and a major part of the town's revenue, he said.

FORT SIMPSON HIT
Fort Simpson, an island community of 700 about 620 miles north of Edmonton at the confluence of the Liard and Mackenzie rivers, also was hit by high water and ice.

More than 1,600 persons were evacuated from both settlements.

Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing, who estimated Hay River damage at $1,600,000, said the federal government will decide this week what assistance it will provide for rehabilitation of the two towns.

TO MAKE STUDY
The minister also said that the government will study methods of preventing flooding of Hay River and will look into possible relocation of the community on the mainland.

Other businessmen said diking of the river possibly would be preferable to a mass movement to the mainland.
